Vehicle Law May Boost Tax Troubles

'Pay as You Go' Problems Loom

By CLARKE THOMAS
Sunday Staff Writer

As if the state doesn't have enough tax problems new ones loomed Saturday in connection with the new pay-as-you-go motor vehicle tax law

The State Board of Equalization met Saturday and acted upon the most immediate problems—setting the valuations at which all motor vehicles will be taken next Jan 1

The Board decided that motor vehicles will be given values next January 10 per cent less than what they were valued by county assessors last March 10

That will allow for depreciation in the nine intervening months

* * *

BUT OTHER difficulties mostly procedural, face state and county officials because of the pay-as-you go" tax measure LB 165 signed into law last week

Gov Robert Crosby Saturday said, I knew there were difficulties in this law when I signed it But I have no doubt they can be worked out The people of Nebraska asked for some new plan when they approved a constitutional amendment on the subject last November This is the Legislature's answer"

Statehouse officials said assessors county treasurers and county clerks would probably have to be called in for conferences on how to make the bill work

The new law requires payment of tax on the vehicle before being issued a license The tax is considered as having 12 parts If a person sells his car during the year he can claim a remittance of as many parts of the tax as there are months remaining

* * *

THE PROBLEMS have bobbed up in connection with vehicle owners who change residence

What if you move from Lincoln to Grand Island and trade cars?

You are entitled to credit on taxes from your old car But the money is in the Lancaster County treasurer's office And maybe Hall County won't give you the credit on your new car

Another difficulty comes because you can pay your tax between Nov 1 and Jan 1, but can't get your new license until Jan 1 Suppose you pay your tax in November and the boss" moves you somewhere else Your new county might refuse to let you get license plates because they didn't have the benefit of your taxes

State officials are hopeful these difficulties can be worked out

* * *

THE SATURDAY action of the board came because the new law calls for the State Board to set valuations of motor vehicles

Previously each assessor did his own although in actual practice suggested" figures from the state tax commissioner's office were used

The valuations had to be set so county assessors would know what valuations to put down for abstracts which must be sent to the state board by July 1, it was explained

TOKYO — South Korea, alarmed by increasing mob violence in the anti-armistice demonstrations, Sunday threatened "severe punishment" for acts which might lead to "hostile sentiments" between South Korea and its allies.

A new regulation, passed at a cabinet meeting Saturday, was broadcast to the nation Sunday The warnings apparently had some effect since no new demonstrations developed in Seoul or Pusan Sunday morning

* * *

BOTH SEOUL and Pusan the wartime capital were scenes of riotous demonstrations Saturday by South Koreans protesting armistice terms

The new cabinet regulation was announced by Dr Hong Kee Karl official government spokesman It said

'Those who force their way into government, public and private facilities or American or United Nations establishments, commit acts of violence and obstruct traffic shall be regarded as subversive elements and subjected to severe punishment

SCREAMING for more war, Korean demonstrators Saturday attacked South Korean police stopped an American army truck and snake-danced through the streets

Demonstrations reached the point where U S soldiers fired carbines over the heads of stone-throwing youths

More than 10,000 demonstrated in Seoul Another 10,000 demonstrated in Pusan

* * *

THE LATEST INCIDENT occurred in Pusan, southeastern port

There a crowd of youths, 17 to 19 years of age, stoned a U S truck

Two U S soldiers on the truck fired 10 to 15 shots from carbines over the heads of the youths This show of force cleared a path for the vehicles and the soldiers drove away

Later the soldiers were questioned by military police

Seoul shops were shuttered and not doing any business

THE U N command appeared to have only a few days left to end Rhee's opposition to a truce before there is agreement at Panmunjom

Red and Allied staff officers worked in secrecy but were reported making good progress

Underscoring this, two members of the Allied truce team who had been in Japan flew back to Korea Saturday

The arrival of Rear Adm John C Daniel and Brig Gen Egbert Glenn at Munsan the U N base camp brought the truce team to four of its five members The fifth, South Korean Maj Gen Choi Duk Shin, has boycotted all truce sessions since May 25 in protest of the truce terms

* * *

WHEN THE TRUCE teams recessed Tuesday after settling all major differences it was made clear at that time that the top delegates would be called back only for higher policy actions—such as ratifying and signing the formal agreement

Ellis O Briggs, U S Ambassador to Korea stayed where he could keep close contact with Rhee for the relay of any new word from Washington

Biggest Problem Facing Sioux City Is Cost of Getting Back to Normal

By LYLE DENNISTON
Sunday Staff Writer

SIOUX CITY, Ia — Authorities close to the rehabilitation of flood-torn Sioux City, Ia have one problem foremost in the gigantic task they face—paying for the restoration to normalcy

This is the problem

1 Damage costs are now estimated at nearly $60 million 12 times the cost of the famous 1952 Missouri River spring flood

2 Loss of clothing and household furnishings together amounting to some 40 per cent of the actual cost mounting to immense figures because home-owners had no warning and thus no opportunity to save their belongings Nearly 1,000 homes were destroyed or damaged

3 Costs of operating a shelter for some 350 homeless refugees for an indefinite period (approximately $1 per day per person)

4 A more limited source of funds from the Red Cross due to the large numbers of disasters this spring and also to the fact that the Red Cross' annual appeal reached only 90 per cent of its goal

5 Overall costs of maintaining rehabilitation operations for at least six more weeks,

Harold Hoyt, director of rehabilitation, pointed out that costs of then own resources in five categories

1 Food clothing and other maintenance
2 Household furnishings
3 Building and repair of homes.
4 Medical and nursing aid
5 Occupational supplies

The shelter operation and other immediate relief is already pushing costs high The shelter had 332 inhabitants at week's end, with a possibility of more coming in Four mobile canteens, serving food to workers in the clean-up area handed out 1 500 servings on one day last week

* * *

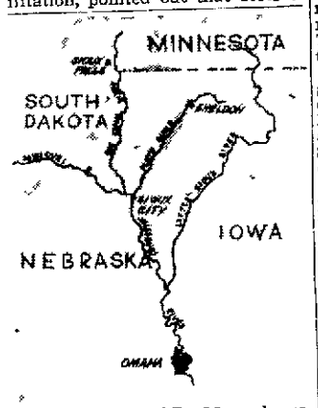
SO FAR, 533 families have registered for relief with the Red Cross Some relief, however may come from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and other federal agencies

With the costs reaching unprecedented heights, city officials and Red Cross personnel looked to a spreading feeling of generosity

The Sioux City newspaper, the Journal-Tribune, which had raised $44 154 54 after last year's flood, began anew a plea for funds The newspaper started the fund with a $5 000 donation

However, administrators of the fund pointed out that a number of the large contributors of last year were themselves hit this year and probably would be unable to give again

The Ak-Sar-Ben Organization of Omaha, Omaha World-Herald, and Omaha firms and individuals have contributed



FLOYD RIVER—Map shows confluence of rivers between Sioux City, Ia, and Omaha Only flooding river was flash-flood on the Floyd Sheldon, Ia, received more than 8 inches of rain in storm that brought tornadoes to Arcadia, Neb, Flint, Mich and Worcester, Mass

the June 8 flood will demand "at least twice" as much in Red Cross funds as did last year's flood when the cost to the Red Cross in the general disaster area of Sioux City and South Sioux City, Neb, was approximately $300,000

* * *

PRESENT IN this year's flood but not a problem last year is the great loss of clothing and furnishings Since residents had nearly a weeks warning last spring they were able to move out many of their possessions The flash flood—virtually a wall of water—struck almost instantaneously

These costs, Hoyt pointed out will be very high because there are some 1 000 families involved

Rehabilitation assistance, which will be in the form of grants and not loans will be given to flood-stricken families unable to obtain minimum necessities through

Taxpayer's Outlook Not as Grim As State Budget Might Suggest

That $194,766 039 budget the 1953 Legislature approved for state government sounds mighty rough for the taxpayer

Especially when the taxpayer is told that the budget approved by the 1951 Legislature was only $166 million

But Sen Arthur Carmody of Trenton Budget Committee chairman pointed out that taxpayers shouldn't be misled by this big figure

It includes everything from revenue from the state property tax to federal funds for Nebraska use money paid in for football tickets for University of Nebraska and even the money the departments were able to conserve last year.

* * *

IN OTHER WORDS it is an all-inclusive budget containing all the money that comes in to state government, whether from taxes, license fees, tuition, or payments, as well as what goes out

Actually, the part that affects the individual taxpayer the most —the property tax he has to pay —is the most optimistic part of the budget

The Legislature decided that $30 510,111 11 is needed in the next two years from the general fund property levy to run state government

In fuguring its budget the Legislature estimated the total valuation of property in the state at $3 billion

Figured on this basis the general fund levy would have to be about 5 08 mills

* * *

BUT NO ONE is saying for sure this year because no one knows what will happen under the new 50 per cent assessments law as well as the Supreme Court-ordered effort to equalize valuations between counties

But the general fund levy was 5 88 mills two years ago

Gov Crosby had first estimated he could cut the figure to 5 50 mills and later got more optimistic and stated he could hold it down to around 4 50 mills

* * *

HOWEVER, on top of this come the special levies

The Legislature passed two new ones this time—a half-mill levy for the teachers retirement fund and a one-quarter mill levy for the University of Nebraska Medical College

In addition there is a 1 1 mill levy for constructing buildings at the various state institutions, plus the levies for care for the insane and the feeble-minded

The insane and feeble-minded levies vary from county to county according to how many people from the county are cared for under these programs

In Lancaster County last year, for example, a levy of 1 66 mills was made for this purpose

* * *

THUS, if things stayed the same in the near future—which they probably won't— a Lancaster County taxpayer would have an aggregate levy for state purposes of about 8 59 mills Last year it was about 8 54 mills

Nobody at the Statehouse will stand behind any such predictions, because there is bound to be all kinds of change in the valuation picture this year

It cost $2,476 to mail out nearly nine tons of copies of bills and Daily Journals during the 1953 Legislative session, G. F. Martin, chief clerk of the bill room, reports The mailing cost compares to $2,054 for last session

Stockmen Urge Herds Be Reduced

'Would Avoid Market Glut'

OMAHA (AP) — The Nebraska Stock growers Association Saturday urged heavy marketing of cows this fall

In a resolution, the association said that by "thus reducing breeding herds and holding some steers, calves and yearlings to delay marketing," a glut on the market could be avoided

The resolution was one of the final items of business for the convention

Dewey Schaffer of O'Neill was re-elected president and Bern Coulter of Bridgeport, vice-president in elections at the windup session The secretary-treasurer will be selected by the executive council later

Other resolutions

Urged restaurants and hotels to bring their beef prices down in line with current wholesale meat and live animal prices

Indorsed the work of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, and urged that the assessment on cattle and calves be immediately increased from 1 cent to 2 cents per head on cattle, and from one-third cent to 1 cent on calves Commission men and auction rings were requested to make the collection with packers matching the assessment

Asked that the stock growers give active support to a constitutional amendment for return to a two-house Legislature elected on a partisan basis

Requested the Congress to do everything possible in eliminating what the resolution said was 'many billions of dollars of gifts and hand-outs to countries now able to provide for and protect themselves"

Reiterated opposition to any further wholesale cuts and insisted action be taken through the escape clause of the Reciprocal Trade Act or otherwise to provide adequate tariff protection for the American meat industry

Chadron was chosen as the site for the next annual convention The regional spring meeting place will be at O'Neill

Tornado Experts Learning Rapidly

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Natures' grim joke on puny man—the tornado—still darts out of the sky to lay low the countryside but persistent man has the tornado's number

That number isn't up yet, but if progress continues the next five years with the rapidity of the past five no tornado will strike even a small isolated area unannounced

Figures on work done here at Tinker Air Force Base show that the sky-watchers are improving their accuracy in predicting both the "when" and "where" of tornadoes

The tornado experts now hope eventually to call the striking range within an area 10 miles wide and 50 miles long

The Severe Storm Warning Center at Tinker was set up in 1948 after a tornado swooped across the prairie to wreck part of the huge installation

* * *

IT'S PURPOSE was to attempt to forecast storm conditions so that Air Force installations in Oklahoma and the immediate surrounding states could be warned in time to batten down the bases

In the first full year of operation under Lt Col E J Fawbush, 14 tornado warnings were issued and each time a twister struck in the area

Now, storms are tagged and when conditions meet a set of standards set up by Fawbush and his staff a tornado warning goes out

To show their accuracy to May 20 this year 132 tornado forecasts have been issued with 90 verified and 17 destructive winds reported instead of tornadoes

Each year the center has expanded the area it covers until now it reaches from the Mexican border through the northern plain states and from the continental divide to the Appalachian Mountain range

* * *

AT THE PRESENT, the center is able to forecast in many types of developing weather situations which it had ignored in the past Further, delineation of areas of expected tornadic development has been reduced to as small as an area of 2 500 square miles

'Of course, it must be understood that all weather situations do not allow the delineation of an area as small as an average county" Fawbush pointed out "However, the tornado areas generally issued by the center are on the order of 10,000 square miles"

Fawbush is cautious in predicting what might be accomplished in the future toward pinpointing tornadoes but he will commit himself "that we can believe we can get to forecasting for a reasonable area"

Fawbush explains it can be hoped to call the striking range within an area 10 miles wide and 50 miles long

Fawbush feels that despite the narrowing down of the area, at least two hours warning can be given so that those in the path can take to storm cellars

* * *

FAWBUSH has made public his center's record, which shows a remarkable average He points out that in the first years, the forecasts were limited to a restricted geographical area

In 1949, the center was right 14 out of 14 times and the next year predicted 25 tornadoes correctly in 29 tries

In 1951, 156 forecasts were issued with 109 tornadoes and 14 destructive winds instead of twisters verified Last year it was 114 forecasts, 82 verified and 14 destructive winds To May 30 of this year, it was 90 out of 132 forecasts and 17 destructive winds

Among the tornadoes forecast this year were the ones that hit Jud, Knox City and Obrian, Tex, April 30, the forecast being made three hours ahead of time, Columbus, Ga, and eastern Alabama, April 18, four hours ahead, Warner Robins, Ga, April 30, three hours ahead, San Angelo, Tex, May 11, three hours ahead, and Sarnia, Ontario, and Port Huron, Mich, May 21, five hours ahead

The forecasts are primarily for military installations but copies go to the U S Weather Bureau, which also makes up tornado forecasts for civilian use.

$85,000 in Lawsuits Dismissed by Agreement

BEATRICE—District Judge C. B. Ellis Saturday dismissed with prejudice by agreement of the parties concerned three damage suits totalling $85,000 filed last March against Mabel C. Herman and the Herman Oil Transportation Co. of Fremont.

The suits had been filed as a result of an accident of July 1952 south of Wymore on Highway 77 and when a car and a Herman Oil Transport truck and trailer collided killing Melvin Cox, young Beatrice athlete, and injuring several others.

One suit for $20,000 was filed by Cox's mother, two others, one for $40,000 and one for $25,000 were filed by the father of Betty and Marjorie Folkers of Wymore, who were critically injured in the wreck.

Jefferson Co. Jail Has Fire

FAIRBURY—City firemen extinguished burning mattresses and furniture Saturday afternoon in a cell at the Jefferson County jail.

Two men, identified as T. T. Elkins of Waco, Tex., and Lyle Eagan of Houston, Tex., charged with check forgery, were being held in the cell.

They broke jail windows and shouted for help when the fire blazed up. Police arrived with the firemen and the two men were ordered out of the cell, the sheriff said.

When Eagan refused to come out, the sheriff said, the sheriff went into the cell after him while other officers stood outside with drawn guns.

A third man in the jail, identified as Dean Garner of Beatrice, serving a 60-day sentence on a joy riding charge, said he was asleep when the fire began.

'Much Being Learned About Hypertension'

OMAHA (AP)—Research into the cause and treatment of high blood pressure has made more progress in the last five years than in "all the previous history of man," a specialist in the subject said Saturday.

The appraisal came from Dr. Edgar van Nuys Allen, native Nebraskan, formerly of Cozad, now a senior consultant in medicine at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.

Dr. Allen received an honorary degree of Doctor of Science from the University of Nebraska College of Medicine at commencement exercises Saturday afternoon. The honor was conferred for his research on blood vessel diseases.

* * *

TREATMENT by drugs and in some cases operation promises new relief for the high blood pressure victim, Dr. Allen said.

"The patient can continue to live a reasonably normal life," he added.

At the graduation exercises, 136 diplomas, certificates and degrees were conferred on medical, nursing and technology students.

The purchase of an appendectomy will never be as attractive as the purchase of a new television set, he said.

"When a person has to buy something he would rather avoid, he has a deep resentment against the person he has to pay," Dr. Robins said in his prepared address.

"We must constantly strive to create and maintain a friendly feeling between medical people and the public."

Council Set For Street Resurfacing

Specifications For Jobs Ready

On Monday the City Council will start moving on the 1953 street resurfacing program to cost upwards of $100,000, with the City's share of gas tax money the motivating force

Specifications will be presented concerning 13 of the 14 projects, one having previously gone through the mill. The clerk will be instructed to advertise for bids The stretches, mostly arterial sectors, were recommended by a special Council committee after ground studies

Gas tax money, however, is to be supplemented under a new act of the Legislature, LB 259, which is expected to produce for Lincoln, from motor vehicle registration fees, about $170,000 annually This will not be of much help in 1953 since revenue will come only from new cars put in circulation and transfers

* * *

IT WILL, however, be important in the over-all picture and make possible the launching of the planned urban highway construction program on a dollar matching basis The bill will not be effective until Aug 13

"It fits in very definitely with our programs set up for resurfacing and construction, featuring, this year and next, the southeast diagonal," said Mayor Clark Jeary

* * *

PUBLIC WORKS Director D L Erickson recently submitted these street program estimates for this year and next

Gas tax money on hand $134 000
Expected gas tax portion to be received in July $36 000
Estimated 1954 income from registration fees $170 000
1954 gas tax income $70 000

These figures add up to $410,000, of which $286 000 is allotted to the southeast diagonal as the city's share, leaving $124,000 for resurfacing

He's Done Something for Himself!

Only a few short minutes ago, the man you see in the picture above was handed the golden keys to his 1953 Cadillac—and now he's off on that first delightful journey behind the wheel.

And as he leans back against the deep, soft cushion, and looks out over that proud hood into the roadway beyond . . . well, he knows that he's done something for himself!

He knows it just from the way he feels there in the driver's seat—rested, relaxed, and at peace with the world . . . completely confident that he has made the wisest possible choice of a motor car.

He senses it in the marvelous way the car handles and drives and rides . . . so effortless and smooth and quiet that it's a joy and an inspiration just to hold the wheel in his hands.

And he knows it, too, from the feeling of pride and satisfaction he enjoys as he looks forward to the delight of his family and the approval of his acquaintances and friends.

And how the miles and the years will bear him out in his conviction!

Let him arrive at a distinguished hotel . . . or an exclusive club . . . and he will find that his Cadillac constitutes the perfect "letter of introduction."

In fact, let him travel wherever he will in this broad land of ours . . . and he will find his Cadillac a trustworthy and unfailing companion, an inspiration to own and drive, a valued contributor to a magnificent way of life.

Yes, you're looking at a man who's done something wonderful for himself—wonderful beyond even his fondest dreams.

And if you think it's time you did something for yourself, then we suggest you come in and see us.

Let's make it "Cadillac time" for you!

Supreme Court's Activity Adds To Burdens of Legislature

By CLARKE THOMAS
Sunday Staff Writer

The Legislature spent considerable time "undoing" the effects of Nebraska Supreme Court decisions

Most noticeable was its passage of LB 272, the 50 per cent assessments law, after the high court in the Johnson County farmlands case handed down a mandate that tax equalization laws must be obeyed

Proponents of the controversial measure claimed it was the only way laws could be obeyed this year without completely disrupting the economy

Then the senators passed LB 411, which completely changed the law regarding taxation of stock of domesticated foreign corporations.

Advocates of LB 411 said it would put things back the way they had been done for 30 years, before the attorney general changed the rules and the Supreme Court upheld him

LB 356 was passed to change the Supreme Court decision in the Bankers Life case. That decision held that officers of domestic insurance companies could not be included in retirement plans under then existing statutes

Vacation

Some senators are really going to get away from it all now that the Legislature has finally adjourned

A group of the legislators immediately headed north to Canada for a fishing trip. Included were Sens. Richard Marvel of Hastings, Tom Coffey of Alma, Bill Moulton of Omaha, and Herb Duis of Gothenburg.

Omen

Out at Cornhusker Boys State grown-up advisors watch closely to see what political issues the youngsters pick in their campaigning That's because the adult onlookers figure the high schoolers are pretty much reflecting what "the home folks" think So there was a raised eyebrow or two as the Federalist Party swept to power on a platform which contained a plank advocating a "sales tax as a replacement for the state property tax" Curiously, the Federalist governor elected was from Omaha, whose delegation to the Legislature perennially battles against any sales tax.

Futures

A state senator tells me he may be slated for a commission position with the Eisenhower administration A member of the staff of Legislature Clerk Hugo Srb is slated to join the staff of Attorney General C S. Beck

Closed

A closed-door policy has taken effect in several state offices in recent weeks—but not of the kind to arouse any reporter's animosity. Those are the few offices in the non-air-conditioned Statehouse which have cooling units of their own The state tax commission's and the secretary of state's offices are among these which close their doors to keep out the hot air of Statehouse corridors

Lancaster Senators Do Well in Session

The Lancaster County delegation to the 1953 Legislature fared well with their legislative problems

Sen Otto Liebers piloted the watershed development district bill to successful passage Numerous other measures carrying his name were approved

For Sen Robert McNutt came complete success on the bills relating to school lands which a Legislative Council Committee of which he was chairman had written. McNutt was also chairman of the Legislature Judiciary Committee, which had a high "batting average" on bills passed

Sen. McNutt

* * *

THE THIRD senator, Howard Britt, met with ill luck on the bill to carry out his major campaign issue—the ton-mile tax on trucks

The measure, LB 226, was one of two legislative bills which never got out of committee There were never enough votes in the Revenue Committee to either kill it or vote it out for the Legislature's consideration

Sen. Britt

However, the Britt measure strongly affectected other legislation pertaining to taxation of trucks Some Revenue Committee members said they voted to keep it alive in committee as a club over the heads of the truckers to get certain other measures passed

Sen Britt commented, "The idea got farther than ever before in the Legislature and the groundwork is now laid for an effort along the line of seeing to it that the trucking industry should pay more for the highways than it does in comparison to what automobile owners pay"

* * *

NOTICEABLE, too, was the harmony among the three members from Lancaster County What differences they had, they never brought to the floor as did the Douglas County delegation, for instance

The three senators successfully pushed through a bill to allow constrution of a city-county building by Lincoln and Lancaster County

They also got the Legislature to take the mill levy limit off the Lincoln School District again It was removed by the 1951 Legislature for a two-year period

McNutt remarked, "The Lincoln school system is in excellent shape, and the board is doing a good job Our confidence in them is reflected in our sponsorship of the bill taking off the ceiling"

Liebers and McNutt sponsored a county compact bill which Liebers described as "a new approach in this state to political subdivisions working together to solve commmon problems"

McNutt said the only measure of his which lost and he hated to see killed was LB 334 That would have allowed the state to be sued in cases where its employees were negligent

"It's going to come to Nebraska anyway—just a matter of time," McNutt predicted

* * *

LIEBERS, who was a member of the Budget Committee, introduced a series of measures to bring laws affecting the University of Nebraska up to date

His name was on the bills setting up a half-mill levy for the teachers retirement fund and a quarter-mill levy for the University of Nebraska Medical College Liebers also worked hard for LB 423, which included all the teachers left out in the 1951 teachers retirement act

* * *

LIEBERS sponsored a cream improvement act and a bill allowing the Methodists to dispose of obsolete property Liebers said the Methodists were the last denomination to get such legislation

Britt fought to get more of the gas tax collected from city people to be allocated for use on city streets He amended the gas tax bill to get a higher percentage, 35, for Lincoln city streets

County Red Cross Sets Annual Meet

The annual meeting of the Lancaster County Chapter of the American Red Cross will be held at the YWCA at noon Tuesday

Officers, directors and executive committee for the coming year will be elected and the annual report given

All county residents who have contributed $1 or more to the Red Cross duing the past year are eligible to vote, according to Robert A. Dobson, chapter chairman.

Impeachment Seldom Used In Nebraska

With the Legislature finally adjourned, one possible club over the heads of state officials is withdrawn.

That is the threat of impeachment, a removal device seldom used in Nebraska history and not attempted since the turn of the century.

The Nebraska Constitution in Article 3, Section 17, provides that the Legislature shall have the sole right of impeachment.

Article 15, Section 3, provides that "drunkenness shall be cause for impeachment and removal from office"

* * *

IF THE LEGISLATURE should wish to impeach an official, it would pass a resolution of impeachment

A notice would be served to the Supreme Court which would be required to take action within 10 days If the impeachment was against a Supreme Court justice, he would be tried by a court composed of all the district judges of the state

If two-thirds of the court finds against the impeached official he shall be removed from office and disqualified from holding or enjoying "a position of honor, profit, or trust in the state"

Nebraska's first governor, David Butler, was apparently the only state official ever impeached He was found guilty of one charge—"missappropriation of school funds for private use or benefit"—out of 11 Later the impeachment was expurged from the records and Butler even was elected to the state senate

An attempt was made to impeach the first state auditor, also, according to Addison Sheldon's authoritative, "Nebraska, Land and the People"

* * *

THE POPULISTS in 1893 tried to impeach the Republican secretary of state, attorney general, state treasurer, and commissioner of public lands and buildings but got nowhere.

"The reason a person has heard there were so many impeachments in early Nebraska history is because newspapers were always loudly demanding the impeachment of some official or another," explains Dr James Olson, executive secretary of the State Historical Society.

The most famous impeachment on the national level was against President Andrew Jackson Congress failed by one vote to find him guilty.

I May Be Wrong

By Walt Dobbins

It's about time someone hired Dick Tracy, Johnny Dollar or Mr. Chameleon to take over the Bob Cerv case

The Weston, Neb, slugger apparently couldn't hit major league pitching and he spent a good part of his brief career in the big show in Casey Stengel's doghouse.

WHETHER THE ex-Husker was given a bum deal by the Yankees may be debatable but Bob's ability to sock Triple A pitching is not

The Yanks shipped Cerv back to Kansas City a few weeks back At first there was no place in the Blues' lineup for Bob for all three of Harry Craft's ball hawks were belting the apple to the far corners of the lot

At last writing Bob was hitting at a terrific 398 pace, smashing out eight doubles, two triples and three home runs besides knocking in 20 runs

Cerv did most of his clouting on a recent road trip and has been playing under the handicap of an injured knee

● ● ●

HERE'S A young fellow who certainly deserves another chance in the majors but it is a good bet he will never make it as he is Yankee property

Realigned Leagues

Tom Meany, a talented baseball writer, suggested in a recent issue of Collier's mag a realignment of major league baseball cities to include three loops known as American, National and Western

● ● ●

National — Brooklyn Dodgers, New York Giants, Baltimore Phillies, Montreal Royals, Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati Reds and Cleveland Indians

American — Toronto Maple Leafs Milwaukee Braves, New York Yankees Washington Senators, Philadelphia Athletics, Chicago White Sox, Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers

Western — Denver Bears, Los Angeles Angels, Dallas Eagles, San Francisco Seals St Louis Cards Kansas City Browns Minneapolis-St Paul Twins, and Seattle Rainers

Pretty good reading Senor Meany but you had better get out of New York and look at a map It's quite a little jaunt from Dallas to Seattle, plane or otherwise

I can't imagine St Louis fans seeing their Cardinals in a new loop and the Browns out of the Mound City altogether But it makes interesting reading

Why the Yanks Win

"Red" Ormsby was an American League umpire from 1923 through 1941

He can tell you why the Yankees keep on winning ball games

"When a rookie came up to the Yankees a committee of players met the young fellow. He was told that baseball is a business Winning baseball is good business The Yankees try to win every ball game. They stay in condition They keep a curfew and the more games they win the better the business" Ormsby explained, stating that his authority was the late Tony Lazzeri

'I always noticed that in those days all the Yankee players were in the sack by 11 p m The committee told the young player that if the rules were too tough, he'd better go back to Kansas City '

'I don't know whether that committee is still working ' Red declared" but sometimes I think it is "

Kissell's Strategy

" I can't figure this guy George Kissell out," a Sherman Field fan declared after last Friday s afternoon and night tussles when the Omaha Cardinals were beaten by scores of 4-3 and 2-1 '

"Why does the Omaha pilot use so many pitchers" Why does he take a guy out who is making our club look silly at the dish"

That we don t know but we thought it worth our time to check on Mr Kissell s handing of his mound staff

In 51 games Kissell has used 134 pitchers Only 14 complete games have been turned in by members of the Cardinal staff

● ● ●

IN THE Friday afternoon scrimmage here Kissell took Tony Stathos out for good reason but Bob Hems had permitted only two hits in four frames when he was yanked for a pinch hitter In the second game Stahos was also relieved for a pinch hitter after rendering the Chiefs helpless for four and two-thirds innings

Maybe Kissell is playing percentage with his pinchhitters—but I'll bet my two-bits his mound staff doesn't like their daily — or nightly — trips to the bull pen

Ray Joblonski of the Cardinals led the Carolina League in five departments in 1951 He topped the loop in hitting runs-batted-in home runs, hits and doubles

SPEED ACE—Bobby Grim, Indianapolis racing star, is shown at the wheel of the beautiful new Honore-Bardahl Offenhauser in which he has set three track records so far this year Hector Honore, veteran car builder from Pana, Ill, (right) predicts that the 24 85 second track record set by Emory Collins in 1946 will be shattered when the big cars take over the State Fair track July 4.

Fastest Speedway Field In History on Tap Here

The fastest field of speedway cars in the 38-year history of the Nebraska State Fair track was assured this week with the signed entry of Bobby Grim of Indianapolis, Ind, to drive the sparkling black Honore Offenhauser in the eighth annual IMCA championship big car races Saturday afternoon, July 4th

Grim, the present leader in the IMCA championship point standings for 1953 predicts a new track record for his car here in a letter to Secretary Edwin Schultz

'This car set new track records at Danville, Urbana and Des Moines and is made to order for your Lincoln track," said the popular bobby-soxer who was reared in the shadows of the Indianapolis Speedway

● ● ●

THE DARING youngster who has steadily increased his talents at the wheel under the careful tutoring of Hector Honore, his car owner, will remind many speed fans of the late Frankie Luptow with the way in which he drives the turns

The all-new 270-cubic-inch Offenhauser is almost identical with the famous 'Black Panther" of his former rival

Grim leads Deb Snyder, Bob Slater and Jimmy Campbell in the championship standings by virtue of his feature victories at Danville, Urbana, Mt Vernon, Kansas City and Belleville

The eighth annual speed classic, oldest auto racing event in the state of Nebraska, has attracted two California entries in Dick Ferguson of Burbank and Frank Heaton of Los Angeles

● ● ●

FERGUSON will drive the Johnston Offy that Johnny Mantz drove in AAA competition last year and finished among the top winners in the Pike s Peak climb

Heaton will drive a 183-inch Offy for Hank Hadstead of Los Angeles

Earlier entrants were Bob (Slats) Slater of Redfield, Kan in the Blue Crown Offenhauser that champion Bill Holland drove here last year Chuck Edwards of Augusta, Ga, in the former Purdy Hal, George Anderson of Hastings, Neb, and Ray Duckworth of Anderson, Ind

Milwaukee Park Said Below NL Standards

By International News Service

Milwaukee fans have left no doubt that they have a big league city But the suddenness of the Braves' shift to Milwaukee seems to have stuck them with a ball park somewhat below major league standards

Players around the National League have been complaining Outfielders particularly dislike the low metal outfield fence on which Frank Baumholtz of the Chicago Cubs was injured early in the season

The fence has since been padded but it's maintained by the critics that the barrier should be made higher and moved farther out from home plate It's now only 320 feet along either foul line

● ● ●

Umpires too, reportedly have commented privately that this background condition is dangerous

Many other clubs have had similar problems Sometimes a section of bleachers has had to be blocked off because the ball coming at the batter from a background of shirt sleeves, was almost impossible to see

At Milwaukee the best solution apparently would be to increase the height of that portion of the fence and paint it green

DUROCHER also heeded that the Braves' lighting system seems to need adjustment because it leaves shadows and dark patches that add to the hazards of night play

It's ironic considering some of the antiquated parks in which other teams play, that the new $5 million Milwaukee Stadium should be the target of criticism Fortunately, however, the faults appear to be relatively minor things that can be corrected without too much difficulty

No doubt, all such things could have been ironed out had not Lou Perini been hurried into making the transfer to Milwaukee a year ahead of his original plans Perini must often have been sorry too that he couldn't have waited until some additional seating space could be added to the park's rather small capacity

There have been several games when customers had to be turned away at the Braves box office A novel experience for the Braves but always an unpleasant one from the standpoint of the front office which hates to lose those potential customers

Charles Mathews first baseman on the Michigan State baseball team is also a member of the college Air Force ROTC rifle team

Browns Trade Virgil Trucks

ST LOUIS (AP)—Pitcher Virgil Trucks and Infielder Bob Elliott were traded to the Chicago White Sox for hurler Lou Kretlow, catcher Darrell Johnson and cash the St Louis Browns announced Saturday night

Trucks came to the Browns last winter from Detroit in a deal which sent pitcher Ned Garver to the Tigers Elliott was signed as a free agent during spring training

Trucks has a 5-4 record with St Louis and an earned run average of 3 20 in 87 innings pitched

Elliott has played in 48 games so far and is batting 258

Both Kretlow and Johnson have been with the Browns before

The amount of cash involved was not announced

Browns May Pull Trade With Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, already eight and a half games behind the league-leading New York Yankees were reported on the verge of concluding a six-man deal with the seventh place St Louis Browns Saturday

Cleveland according to local reports would receive Outfielder Vic Wertz Catcher Clint Courtney and a lefthanded pitcher before the June 15 trading deadline in exchange for Outfielder Harry Simpson Catcher Joe Tipton and a starting pitcher

General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Indians denied the reports although he admitted speaking with Brownie President Bill Veeck several times" this week

Williams Seeking Amateur Fight Spot

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago team for the International Golden Gloves bout will be designated Monday

Sammy Williams of Omaha is one of the candidates for the light-middleweight division The other is Donnie Ward Oklahoma City

Both middleweight and welterweight divisions are divided into two sections under international rules

NCAA Victory To Michigan

OMAHA (AP) — Michigan's Big Ten co-champions clouted Texas, 12-5, Saturday night to become the only undefeated team in the National Collegiate Baseball Tournament It was the third straight victory for the Wolverines and the first loss for Texas in three games

After a wild first inning in which seven runs were scored for a 4-3 Texas lead Michigan came back for two runs in the second and had command thereafter

Michigan opened the game with three runs on a single four walks a wild pitch and a hit batsman

Lafayette Whips Stanford

OMAHA (AP)—Undefeated Ron Owen of Lafayette ran his winning streak to 10 games Saturday night as he tossed a 3-hitter for a 4-3 victory over Stanford in the third round of the National Collegiate Baseball Tournament

All the runs against the slim southpaw came in the third inning when Jack Shepard smashed a barely fair home run over the left field fence with two men on base

Duke Falls to Boston

OMAHA (AP) — Relief pitcher John McKinnon singled home the winning run Saturday as Boston College edged Duke 7-6 in an 11-inning third round game in the National Collegiate Baseball Tournament

McKinnon who had choked off a Duke threat in the ninth after replacing Dan Claman smashed a hot drive into right field to score John Ruggerio with the run that gave Boston a 2-1 record and eliminated Duke from the championship hunt

Wakefield Hit Wins Tilt

WICHITA, Kan (AP) — Bob Wakefield a former Wichita player, singled with bases full and none out in the top of the ninth to send in the winning runs as Denver beat Wichita Saturday night 5-4 their second straight win of the series

Bob Masser had tagged Nelson King for a 400-foot homer over center, one of the few ever hit over that spot in the seventh to put Wichita ahead 4-3

Both teams played ragged ball and most of the first six runs were made on walks, misplays and a few hits among the miscues

NIL Statistician Deserves Praise for Loop Brochure

By JIM RAGLIN
Sunday Sports Staff

There are a pair of statistics missing in the Nebraska Independent League roundup this week

G Alliston Yost of North Platte, the league statistician, has left his own name out of a couple of catagories

Yost should be credited with an assist of the most spectacular variety along with a prodigious home run

● ● ●

HE HAS produced a dandy brochure that gives a font of facts on the NIL and the players who perform in the loop

Yost has scored a "run" for his league and in doing so he turned in an assist for sportswriters covering the league's activities

In addition to handling the statistical chores for the NIL, Yost serves three other leagues in a similar capacity.

He thumps tubs for the two divisions of both the Platte Loup and West Central Leagues and the Panhandle League.

● ● ●

ONE OF the more interesting sidelines on Yost's brochure for the NIL is the number of out-of-state players who dot, or dominate—depending on the team—the various rosters

There are about 25 such performers in the league, plus a mittful of players who have been around long enough to be counted as natives

Only Iowa State and Oklahoma of the Big Seven haven't contributed a player to the league. There are a raft of glovesmen from various Kansas colleges, a high percentage of them from Wichita and thereabouts.

Oklahoma A&M is represented by Pitcher Jim Schlesner He is on the Lexington roster along with Ray Novak of NU

Both were selected for the district NCAA all-star team as pitchers although Novak doubles in brass and plays first base in addition to his chucking chores

Scanning the State

Bill Fanning of Hayes Center, subject of a feature in The Sunday Journal and Star last week, proved that it's no jinx to get some publicity . . . he pitched Hayes Center to a 9-0 win over Imperial in the Colorado-Nebraska League, giving up only three hits

The Firing Line

By Norris Anderson

Old Dizzy Dean, the great man, was all signed, sealed and delivered for our Sunday topic and here he doesn't make it to Lincoln after all for that Friday "game of the day" at Sherman Field

At almost the precise moment we learned of Dean's unavailability because of television commitments a wire bulletin arrived on The Firing Line's desk

"Hogan shoots 67 to lead U S Open Field Story follows"

That struck us over the head with a memory of three years ago

The Firing Line was headquartered at The Gay Uncle's in Santa Monica, Calif, awaiting the Rose Bowl game In the neighborhood is the Riviera Country Club which annually is the scene of the Los Angeles Open

We sauntered over to the course one rainy day and didn't withdraw for three more days Darned if we can remember who won that Rose Bowl game!

Hogan the Courageous

For there was Hogan, back from the very brink of death, courageously dragging himself around the rugged Riviera layout in his first comeback attempt

Just seven months before, Bantam Ben lay in an El Paso hospital near death from an automobile accident There were over 30 broken bones and dangerous blood clots had formed

The nation's best physicians and specialists, flown from every reach of the globe, nearly gave up hope of keeping warm a tiny spark of life in the tiny 141-pounder's wiry body If he lived, they said he would spend his life in a wheel chair

Yet here he was a wan, limping dull-eyed miracle Physically below par Hogan was still the mechanical man with the fighting heart He was there to win and he did too even though he lost the playoff to Sammy Snead

Gallery Returned

Like every one in that open-day gallery, we came back the next day and the next to watch little Ben

His fellow pros usually known as pretty mercenary guys when tournament dough is involved gave little Ben a helping hand

IT WAS something to see Jimmy Thompson take his arm and guide him up a steep hill Big, roughcut Sammy Snead slapped him on the back once and said "Keep your chin up, little fella '

On the 420-yard No 9, Ben winced in pain as he hooked his tee shot and wound up with a bogey six on the hole Cary Middlecoff was there with a handshake and a bit of oral encouragement as Ben finally got his putt down

Little Ben somehow dragged his tired and mending body around that steep, craggy course for four rounds

Along with 5,000 other partisans, we stood waiting as Hogan came up the final fairway

Rumble of Applause

As the limping little figure showed around the bend, there was a rumble of applause you seldom see on a golf course Ben was moving now as if every step was torture and he seemed oblivious to the applause

As he sank his final putt a cordon of fellow pros carried him to the clubhouse It was a scene we always remember when the wires tick out songs of little Ben's latest feat.

He s won the National Open since, of course and has captured the coveted Augusta Masters

He's still going strong at 40 and, though he only hits the big meets, he s still the guy to beat

There isn't another pro alive who could keep us tramping around for four days in rainy weather

Someday the synonym for "clutch" will be officially Hogan Could there be a better one?

Trots in Rain

WESTBURY, N Y (AP)—Here's a sample of how harness racing has caught on at Roosevelt Raceway The second night program of the spring meeting was held in a downpour yet 8 060 people turned out and wagered $499 488

Hogan Edges Snead for 4th U. S. Open Crown

Bantam Ben Fires 71 in Final Round

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP)—Unshakeable Ben Hogan made it No 4 Saturday and hapless, frustrated Sam Snead blew another one in a pressurized head-to-head battle for the 53rd National Open golf championship

The leathery Texas master nailed Snead's doom with a dramatic birdie-birdie finish that gave him a final round 71 and a 72-hole total of 283, which shattered Oakmont's heretofore impregnable par to smithereens His margin over runnerup Snead was six strokes

Hogan's rounds of 67-72-73-71 put him five under par for four trips around the sprawling, 6 916-yard course which plays a rugged 37-35-72 The previous 72-hole competitive record for the course was 294, set by Willie McFarlane in 1934

• • •

SNEAD, fretting with an unruly putter, was on the 14th green when Hogan rammed home his five-foot birdie putt on the final hole A beaten crestfallen man, he limped in with a 76 for a final score of 289

It was just another in a series of bitter disappointments for the West Virginian whose troubles began when he took an eight on the final hole to lose the championship at Philadelphia's Spring Mill in 1937

Snead had the door thrown open to him several times during exhausting double round He collared Hogan at the third hole of the morning round, passed the pace-setter by two strokes at the fifth and seemed headed for possible victory when his game suddenly went sour

He cut Hogan s lead to a single stroke with a par 72 in the morning while Ben took a 73

But Sam was edgy and pale at the brief lunchtime intermission while Hogan appeared relaxed and confident And Sam never could catch his old nemesis in the afternoon

HOGAN THUS became the third man in the history of this classic to win the championship four times He joined Willie Anderson, who strung out his triumphs in 1901, 1903-05 back in golf's 'dark ages" and the immortal Bobby Jones who spread-eagled the field in 1923, 1926 1929, 1930

One over par with two holes to play, Hogan came to the 17th and whammed the ball to the green 292 yards away

"I hit it with everything I had" he said later.

He was left with a 25 foot putt He nursed the ball to within six inches of the cup and sank it for his birdie three

• • •

ON THE 18th, actually the 36th of the tiring day, Hogan hit a long drive down the middle and then poked a five-iron shot to the green five feet from the cup He measured the putt for more than a minute, dropped a half-smoked cigarette on the green and coolly stroked the ball in

Lloyd Mangrum, the 1949 champion from Niles, Ill, went to pieces on the last three holes of the morning round and finished with rounds of 75-74 for a total of 292. This gave him third money.

Buzz Fazio, the 40-year-old touring pro from Clementon, N J, who started the day tied with Snead at 141, two strokes back of Hogan, skied to 77-76 for 294, which placed him a tie with Jimmy Demaret

Hogan Hints He's Nearing Retirement

OAKMONT, Pa (AP) — Ben Hogan hinted after winning his fourth National Open golf championship Saturday that this may be his last Open tournament

Asked if he planned to play in the 1954 open at Baltusrol at Springfield N J Hogan replied "I may not"

• • •

PRODDED to be more specific at an informal news conference after his victory, the little four-time champion added

"I don't want to say I'm retiring. I love golf I want to play as long as I can

"But I'm getting awfully tired. Some day there has to be a stopping point"

Later at informal ceremonies at which he received the $5,000 first prize Hogan said to the assembled group

"They keep asking me whether I'll retire I'll tell you this When I get so I can't prepare for a tournament then I'll retire

Olson, Young Tangle Friday

NEW YORK (AP)—Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco, a transplanted Hawaiian, and Paddy Young, a home town boy from New York's Greenwich Village meet Friday night in a 15-round match at Madison Square Garden for the American middleweight title

The survivor qualifies to fight Britain's Randy Turpin in the fall for the undisputed world title, vacated by Sugar Ray Robinson

Turpin, a decisive winner last Tuesday over France's Charles Humez at London for the British version of the world championship, is expected to accept an International Boxing Club offer to meet the American finalist at Yankee Stadium in August or September

The European boxing Union and all U S commissions insist Turpin fight the Olson-Young victor before receiving universal recognition

The odds favor Olson by 2½ to 1 because he has beaten most of the top men in his division during the last year while Young was idle

Elks Invade Geneva Next

Sporting a 1-1 record, the Lincoln Elks move to Geneva Monday night for a league American Legion contest

The game was originally set for Lincoln Sunday at Muny Field but was switched at the request of the Geneva team

Lincoln has a 1 0 mark in its Legion league, but has dropped an exhibition tilt to Hastings

Pitching has been top notch as far as Coach Fran Nagle's warriors have gone The Hastings loss—a 2-1 thriller—came at the hands of Cal Johnson, one of the highest-regarded chuckers in the state The Elks soundly spanked Fairbury in their other tilt

Florida State University's football team will play eight of their 10 games in the Sunshine State

FOUR-TIME OPEN CHAMP—Ben Hogan, a lei of flowers around his neck, tips his cap Saturday after he won the United States Open Golf Championship for the fourth time, becoming the third man to perform the feat (AP Wirephoto)

Dancer Silences Critics With Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Native Dancer silenced his critics with his thundering hoofs Saturday when he scored a neck victory in the $100,000 Belmont Stakes

They had asked this husky gray colt from Alfred G Vanderbilt s Sagamor Farm to show a 'big race before they tabbed him great They had asked him to leave his field floundering in his wake in this greatest test of a three-year-old horse

And he did what he was asked

• • •

THE DANCER gave them a ringing answer For although he could not pull far away from a game and gallant Jamie K he streaked under the wire in 2 28 3-5 the third fastest Belmont on record Royal Bay Gem was third

In the last eighth of a mile, Native Dancer cut down Jamie K, who had the lead from the top of the stretch, and streaked home by a narrow but adequate margin typical of his Triple Crown races.

For in the Kentucky Derby, he failed by a nose in a gallant attempt to overtake Dark Star And in the Preakness, it was this same Jamie K who was only a neck behind the victorious Dancer at the end

• • •

ERIC GUERIN, who has ridden Native Dancer in all his 15 races and only once been beaten, got Native Dancer out of the gate on top But he let his gallant charger, who went over a half million dollars in earnings, drop back to fourth place when the six-horse field reached the clubhouse turn

On the far turn, Guerin set out after Jamie K, who had taken the lead when Ram O'War gave up the ghost after setting the early pace

It was a two horse race from there on with Eddie Arcaro using all his skill to keep Jamie K in front But Jamie K wasn't good enough

Native Dancer slowly but surely pulled up on the leader It was shoulder to shoulder then head and head and nose and nose all the way down the straightaway But in that last 100 yards, Native Dancer showed his class Relentlessly he moved away from his gallant rival and, although the margin was slim, it was enough

Royal Gem was 10 lengths farther back Then came a gap of four-and-a-half lengths back to Ram O'War with the Preem and Kamehameha bringing up the rear

Casey Won't Guarantee Pennant Yet

CLEVELAND (AP) — Casey Stengel, jubilant over his New York Yankees' 16th straight victory, kept his fingers crossed on their pennant chances Saturday evening, probably as a matter of form

"It's amazing," he declared, commenting on the 8½ games by which his club now leads the second place Cleveland Indians 'But you can't ever tell"

'I remember one year 1916 when the New York Giants won 26 straight and lost the pennant You ask me why and I can t answer you

"And then a lot of things might happen before the end of this season Suppose I lose five players in a plane crash or a train wreck Then where would I be?"

• • •

HE DECLINED to comment on the chances of a wreck

"One thing I'd like to know" he continued "is why I had to wait so long for such a good team but then you never can tell

"A player can be bad one day and good the next a team can be great one month and bad later I can't guarantee a pennant

"I'll 'like' it when we win it . . . until then it's too uncertain"

The 8½-game margin is the most Casey has ever had in his managing career, and that 16-game stretch without a loss is just three short of the league record held by the 1906 Chicago White Sox and the Yankees of 1947

Dancer Could Have Won In a Breeze

NEW YORK (AP)—Although the finish was close, Native Dancer could have won the Belmont Stakes in a breeze 'if he wasn't such a loafer"

That was the opinion of winning jockey Eric Guerin as he smilingly reviewed this richest running of the Triple Crown classic in the Belmont Park jockey quarters

"He was just playing with those horses," Guerin said "I hit him three or four times in the stretch, but he didn't need it It was just a precaution I took to keep him about his business'

The Dancer finished the mile-and-a-half run only two fifths of a second off the stake record and a full second off the track record Asked if the champion could have broken the record Guerin said "I guess he would have if he wanted to but that colt never really exerts himself"

While Guerin was gloating, Eddie Arcaro, who finished second aboard Jamie K, was gritting his teeth

'It s getting so you're just playing with me with that colt" Arcaro shouted to Guerin

Big Inning Sends Yanks to 16th Straight Win as Tribe Falls Again

CLEVELAND (AP)—A big fourth inning and the reliable arm of Ed Lopat combined to produce the Yankees' 16th straight victory Saturday They defeated Cleveland, 9-4, and stretched their American League lead to 8½ games

The Yankees' triumph left them three short of the American League record of 19 straight games which they share with the Chicago White Sox

Lopat, whose life-time record against the Indians now stands at 37-9, recorded his seventh straight victory of the season as he scattered six hits in the seven innings he worked before being relieved by Ray Scarborough

• • •

SCARBOROUGH was nicked for a two-run homer in the ninth inning by Harry Simpson but throttled the uprising to clinch the Yankees' fifth straight victory over the Indians this season without a loss

Veteran Bob Feller, knocked out in the fourth, was charged with the defeat

New York jumped to a one-run lead in the second on doubles by Mickey Mantle and Gene Woodling The roof fell in on Feller the following inning Before he could get a man out, Feller was nicked for three singles and a walk good for two runs Dave Hoskins struck out Gil McDougald to delay the rout, but a bases-loaded single by Phil Rizzuto drove in another pair of runs before the side was retired

Want a Few Extra Fish? Try the 'Quill' Method

By NEALE COPPLE
Sunday Staff Writer

The pencil-thin bobber moved with every wiggle of the minnow on the hook below it. I watched lazily as the minnow is pulled the light bobber toward some submerged brush.

Then the bobber wobbled from side to side and slid slowly beneath the surface. I struck and in two or three minutes had a nice crappie flopping in the landing net.

The performance was repeated several times and I doubt if any of the crappie or bass that were added to my stringer felt the slightest tug on the minnow they were eating until I set the hook.

• • •

IT PROVED, for me at least, that here was another type of fishing that could work in Nebraska waters under the right conditions and for certain fish. What new kind of fishing?

Nothing more than what is known as "quill fishing." The name may be deceptive since it has to do with the bobber and not the hook or bait.

The term "quill fishing" originated from the actual use of large porcupine quills for bobbers. The theory behind quill fishing is quite simple.

Certain fish, particularly crappies and bluegills, are often prone to spit out a bait that seems to be tied to something. Hence a large bobber might exert enough "pull" on a line to discourage a sensitive-mouthed fish.

The quill, when used as a bobber, slides easily beneath the surface, giving hardly any tell-tale hint to the fish that its supper has a string attached.

• • •

ALTHOUGH some confirmed quill fishermen may still import the large quills from the South American porcupine there are a number of substitutes now available. Some of the long, quill-shaped bobbers are made of plastic. Others are made of wood. And the fisherman who is handy with a pocket knife can easily whittle a passable wooden "quill" bobber.

The idea is to create a slim, streamlined bobber that will slide beneath the surface with almost no resistance.

The quill bobber cannot replace larger floats for many kinds of fishing. The ideal quill bobber should be so slim that the bait alone without additional weight will keep the bobber upright in the water.

• • •

OBVIOUSLY when fishing in a current where the bait needs to be kept down by sinkers the quill bobber will not work. The same is true where weight is necessary to cast the bait and bobber out to the fish.

And there are many fish, such as the bullhead, that don't seem to object to the pull of the larger types of bobbers.

But sometimes when you are bait fishing for bluegills or crappie, where the slightest tug may be your only indication that the fish are interested, try quill fishing for Nebraska fish.

Try it for the fun of it, and maybe to add a few extra fish to your string.

Shantz' Biggest Thrill Was HR Against Allie

By BOBBY SHANTZ
As Told to The Associated Press

My greatest thrill in baseball was a home run I hit in Yankee Stadium in 1950 against Allie Reynolds.

That day I was a relief pitcher in a losing cause. The Yankees beat the Athletics, 7-2. It was the only home run I ever hit in baseball.

Winning the American League Most Valuable Player prize last season gave me a big thrill. I won 24 games but I'd like to say that my teammates deserve a lot of credit. They always seem to play inspired ball.

My first All-Star game gave me a big kick even though it went only five innings in the rain. But it isn't every day that a fellow can strike out fellows like Whitney Lockman, Jack Robinson and Stan Musial in Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia.

I got another kick last year when I beat the Yankees in 14 innings. Casey Stengel has been saying that everybody wants to beat the Yankees. Well, why not? They're the champions.

BOBBY SHANTZ—Recalls his only home run.

Robinson Has Versatility And Class

By International News Service

It's a tribute to the versatility of Jackie Robinson that when he was sent to left field recently it marked the fourth regular position he has played with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

When Jackie came up in 1947, he was installed at first base because that happened to be where the Dodgers needed him the most. For the next five years, he was a second baseman and just about tops in the National League.

Came 1953, and Manager Chuck Dressen found himself with an outstanding rookie second base prospect in Jim Gilliam. To make room for Gilliam, he shifted Robinson to third base. And then when leftfield developed into a trouble spot, Jackie went out there.

AN IMPORTANT requirement for major league stardom, no matter what the position, is quick reflexes. Even a pitcher can enhance his chances of staying in the big time if he comes out of his pitching follow-through prepared to pounce on bunts or knock down line drives.

Thus most big leaguers can play more than one position in a pinch. But not many can master four different ones, as Robinson has managed to do.

The first baseman must master adroit footwork around the bag and, in the case of a righthander like Robinson, must throw to what is really the wrong side of him since the entire infield lies to his right.

Aside from such obious things as the double play pivot and the charging, dead-run throw on bunts, even routine grounders must be played differently at second and at third.

And there are various subtle differences in taking relays or cutting off throws from the outfield.

Robinson may not be the best first or third baseman or outfielder in the National League. But he's near enough to the upper echlon to be able to play in any of those spots without weakening the line-up of the defending champion Dodgers.

Considering that he also is one of the top hitters in the league, his versatility is indeed a hallmark of greatness.

Chanute Races To Draw Well

RANTOUL, Ill (AP) — A crowd almost matching that drawn by the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race is expected at Chanute Air Force Base today for a day-long program of sports car racing.

With 152 cars entered in the five-race program, the event is billed as the biggest such meet ever held in the United States.

The Air Force put up special bleachers and made arrangements to handle a crowd of 100,000 for the races. The crowd also will be invited to inspect the base installations and its jet aircraft.

A similar program is scheduled for Offutt Air Force Base at Omaha July 5. Many of the cars entered in the Chanute races are slated to appear on the Offutt card.

USGA Junior Qualifying Set

Sectional qualifying for the USGA Junior Amateur Golf Tournament will be held at Omaha's Happy Hollow Country Club July 20 for the Nebraska section.

Boys who have not reached their 18th birthday by midnight August 1, 1953, are eligible. Entry blanks may be obtained at any USGA club. Entries close Monday, July 6.

The tournament will be held at Southern Hills Country Club in Tulsa, Okla., July 29, 30, 31 and Aug. 1.

Number of qualifiers from each section will be determined after all entries have been received.

Midget Gal May Rassle

Promoter Adam Krieger may add a new twist to the rassle field next fall at the Fairgrounds. He has in training the only midget girl rassler in these parts. She is Shirley Brewer and has been under Krieger's tutelage for about six months. Krieger says she will be ready to go in the fall—provided there is any opposition available.

Grimm Rides A Cloud; He's Enjoying Life

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK — "I'm having breakfast in my suite this morning," said Charlie Grimm over the telephone. "But go ahead. Let's talk baseball. I can always order another breakfast. I'm enjoying life."

Grimm was riding a cloud. His Milwaukee Braves, a sprinkling of bearded men and beardless youths, only a few hours before had gone back into first place. They did it by whipping the Dodgers — and they did it Dodger fashion. They won in the ninth on a two-run homer by ex-Dodger Andy Pafko right in Brooklyn's home lot.

CHARLIE GRIM—Fans' enthusiasm contagious.

"I know a lot of people who would like to change their pennant predictions," Grimm was told. He just laughed.

"The way everybody has been going we ought to do all right."

"All right? Why you ought to finish first or second."

• • •

BUT CHOLLY was too smart to bite for that line.

There are two things to remember about the Braves. They have the pitching—Warren Spahn, Jim Wilson, Max Surkont, John Antonelli, Bob Buhl, Don Liddle and Lou Burdette. And if Vern Bickford ever gets going, they will be rougher.

The Braves also have what appears to be a fair bench—fellows like Sibby Sisti, Jim Pendelton, Bob Thorpe and Walker Cooper from the right side and George Crowe, Ebba St. Claire and Harry Hanebrink from the left side.

Milwaukee has taken the Braves under its wing. Says Grimm:

"The fans have showered us with gifts of all kinds. Their enthusiasm has been wonderful, and it seems to be contagious."

Summer Fun For The VERY YOUNG

Nothing is more thrilling than the first ride on a merry-go-round. . . And all summer the small fry love the beautiful horses that prance to fascinating music. Cathryn Denise Rubenstein, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Rubenstein, and Jeffrey Cole, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Cole, manage their steeds with greatest of ease.

A slide is always fun for the very young. And the Oliver Magee kiddies love their slide. The children are (from top) Nancy, 20 months; Cheryl, 8, Suzanne, 6, and Deborah, 3.

Dressing up in grownup clothes is always good fun. Holly Ann, 4, and Robert 1, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Matzke of Seward, like to play house and wear grownup clothes.

Cold water is the best prescription for fun when the mercury soars. Little tots love to splash in pools just their size. Laurie Jean Lux, 2, (left) and her sister, Mary Jane 4, are learning to have no fear of the water. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lux.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Vierk. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Yeutter of Bustis.

ARE LAXATIVES MAKING YOUR "CONDITION" WORSE?

This natural way to regularity is helping more Americans than any medicinal laxative on the market!

FOREWORD: Too often, attempts to treat constipation cause serious mis-treatment of the digestive system. Long-continued overdosing, with products intended only for overnight laxative relief, can lead to serious lifelong suffering. Since constipation is probably the most widespread of all human maladies, you owe it to yourself to read the following statement.

(signed) KELLOGG COMPANY
Battle Creek, Michigan

• • •

Since the turn of the century, this nation's health progress has been nothing short of remarkable

Twenty years or more have been added to the average American life expectancy at birth.

Death rates from specific diseases such as pneumonia and tuberculosis, have been cut—some almost to the vanishing point.

The general level of nutrition has risen year after year

What is hard to understand is how—despite all this enormous health progress—a seemingly simple ailment like Constipation could be so widespread that according to competent medical authorities at least 70% of our total population from time to time, suffer from constipation in one form or another

• • •

Is the prevalence of constipation—occasional common or chronic—due to lack of medical research, progress and knowledge on the subject? Far from it

On the contrary, nature and the medical profession—separately and together—have provided man with a vast array of remedies, treatment and even prevention

But by and large, constipation is not a "ready-made" condition that strikes without warning, it is a progressive ailment.

—AND THE PROGRESS OF CONSTIPATION, FROM OCCASIONAL TO COMMON TO CHRONIC, IS HASTENED TO A WIDELY UNREALIZED EXTENT BY THE WAY THE DIGESTIVE SYSTEM IS ABUSED WITH PURGATIVES TOO HARSH IN IMMEDIATE EFFECT TO HAVE A SOUND CORRECTIVE RESULT.

When continual abuse is accompanied by not enough exercise, tension of modern living and today's steady diet of processed food lacking in natural bulk . . then it is little wonder that some degree of constipation, sooner or later, is almost inevitable.

Few people indeed are ever aware what damage can take place inside them, when without medical guidance—without even reading the directions on the label—they choose a laxative at random and take "big doses" willy-nilly

This continual overdosing instead of the careful therapeutic dose designed only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage can exert upon the delicate digestive system a strain nature never intended The fact that thousands unknowingly abuse themselves for years in this manner, without apparent harm, merely demonstrates that the human digestive system can stand unbelievable abuse

Sooner or later the vicious "laxative habit" takes hold.

And before they realize it, their condition has progressed so far that even daily laxative or purgative dosing can no longer bring satisfactory, comfortable relief.

These men and women tried to substitute harsh purgative "forcing action" for the natural regularity which sensible daily habits and sufficient bulk in the diet could probably have maintained . . if only they had "let nature take its course"

Let us see what happens inside the digestive system, when it is churned up by unnatural purgative over-dosing

1. Most purgative compounds, designed for fast overnight relief, must depend on (a) mechanical action which loads the lower intestine (colon) with a flood of water, or (b) "irritant" action which, with certain chemical ingredients, prods bowel walls into muscular contraction
2. Obviously, these compounds draw off water from the system and rush it through the intestines, thus also drawing off fluids and juices needed for normal digestion, and vitamins and minerals from the food you have eaten.
3. The chemical action of these compounds when they reach the colon, often further irritates an already over-sensitive intestinal tract. It tightens and becomes tense
4. RESULT: An upset stomach, a small intestine containing little nourishment to feed the body, and a colon which often needs another purgative dose—and another—and another—to prod it into renewed muscular action

IN SHORT: YOU INFLICT UPON YOUR DIGESTIVE SYSTEM UNNATURAL PUNISHMENT WHICH LEAVES A TRAIL OF DIGESTIVE HAVOC, INSTEAD OF THE CORRECTIVE RESULTS HOPED FOR

With these facts before you is it possible to doubt that continual overdosing can so weaken your digestive function that finally, "the remedy is worse than the disease"?

If you feel you have to take a laxative occasionally, be sure you take it wisely—in an accurate, recommended dose

BUT THERE IS A WAY TO AVOID DRUG-TYPE LAXATIVES ALTOGETHER, AND PLACE YOUR MAIN DEPENDENCE ON NATURE.

It is a medically established fact that nature has provided, in the natural foods men were intended to eat all the elements necessary for lifelong avoidance of common constipation

In many of these natural foods—such as certain vegetables, fruits and grains—nature grew, AND GROWS TODAY, abundant natural fibrous bulk which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination.

And in no other natural food is this natural bulk so ideally found as in the vitamin-rich, mineral-rich outer layers of the whole wheat kernel, known generally as bran

Whole-wheat bran is nature's "food instead of a medicine" a veritable storehouse of such essential nutritional elements as iron calcium, phosphorus vitamin A, Thiamine riboflavin and niacin

—whole bran when properly processed and shredded yields smooth bulk the digestive system can handle unimpaired

—AND MOST IMPORTANT TO CONSTIPATION SUFFERERS: THE COMPLETE, WHOLE BRAN, WITH NOTHING TAKEN AWAY TO LESSEN ITS EFFECTIVENESS, IS KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN—THE NATURAL LAXATIVE CEREAL.

Let us tell you how Kellogg's All-Bran works inside your body And we leave it to you to compare its action with the unnatural "forcing action" which takes place when you overdose your digestive system in the way previously described.

1. Kellogg's All-Bran has no significant laxative action in the stomach or small intestine, thus it does not significantly change the normal digestive sequence Only in the colon, where laxative action is needed, does laxative action take place.
2. Kellogg's All-Bran is eaten with milk, thus it draws from the system no needed water and digestive juices It has no harsh action, thus it does not rush vitamins or minerals past the small intestine too quickly for absorption
3. Kellogg's All Bran is rich in vitamins and minerals, thus it actually assures the presence of these elements in the small intestine for proper absorption
4. Kellogg's All Bran is shredded to fine, soft consistency, thus it supplies bulk which neither irritates nor inflames the normal colon It helps—as nature itself intended—to supply the proper consistency for unforced, normal elimination

THERE IS NO CHURNING, NO STOMACH UPSET, NO AFTER-EFFECT EXCEPT THE FEELING OF SATISFACTION AND FULFILLMENT WHICH COMES WITH NORMAL, NATURAL ELIMINATION.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN IS SAFE FOR THE NORMAL DIGESTIVE TRACT

YOU DO NOT COURT THE DISASTER OF PROGRESSIVE CONSTIPATION WHEN YOU EAT ONE OUNCE OF KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN DAILY, AND DRINK PLENTY OF WATER.

• • •

It is sold as a cereal Bought at cereal prices. Served as a cereal Eaten as a cereal Enjoyed like a cereal, with a crunchy, toasty, nut-like flavor like a cereal. Digested like a cereal Many prefer it, on taste and eating qualities alone, to any other cereal on the market.

Kellogg's All-Bran is ALL BRAN No "part-bran" cereal—in the amounts you usually eat for breakfast—can give you the benefits of All-Bran.

No exaggerated claims are made for the laxative qualities of All-Bran. The name Kellogg's on the package, a symbol of healthful foods throughout the world, speaks for itself.

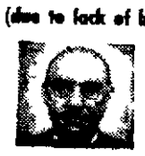
But the thousands of unsolicited testimonial letters which pour in—and the fact that it is today the largest-selling laxative cereal in the world, with over four hundred million servings per year consumed by the American public—indicate that it lives up to the fine things said about it.

Kellogg's All Bran is no "overnight cure" for constipation. There is no such cure All-Bran must be eaten regularly to obtain the natural and lasting relief you are looking for.

Kellogg's makes it easy for you to prove that to yourself. Just eat All-Bran every morning for 10 days. Then, if you're not completely satisfied, send the empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Michigan—and get double your money back.

READ HOW OTHER SUFFERERS FROM CONSTIPATION (due to lack of bulk in the diet) HAVE BENEFITED:

"I spent half my life looking for a cure for constipation After 35 years I began eating Kellogg's All-Bran daily I haven't been bothered with constipation since"
— Mrs Margaret Topham
300 W. Shephard St, Saginaw 3, Mich.



"I wish I had all the money I've spent on laxatives I used them for 20 years Finally I got around to trying Kellogg's All-Bran I haven't needed a laxative since"

Lincoln Riders to Climax Activities

"I'd rather ride English than Western.'

"Oh, but I like the Western saddle."

It might be that some people would be confused by such conversation, but not horseback riders.

For even the newest of riders would know that the Western saddle is the one that seems like a rocking chair (and has a horn that can be grabbed if one's nerves are shaken.

But the rider that prefers English gear on his horse likes the freeness of the flat saddle, and the gripping with his knees, posting when the horse trots.

It seems that the love of horseback riding is recurring in this state . . . Popular for a long time in the western section, the number of riders in this area is increasing.

Youngsters take to riding like ducklings take to water. And one teen-ager is drumming up odd jobs, such as baby sitting, and yard work, in order to earn enough money for her own horse.

Lincoln Saddle Horse Club, Inc., has, for the past eight years, conducted a horse show . . . so that horses may be shown, as well as the fine riding. The show this year is scheduled for next Sunday at 1 p.m. and will be held at the club's grounds, north of the entrance to Pioneers Park.

There will be the usual open classes for showmanship, horsemanship, jumpers, and fine horses.

Interspersed throughout the program will be closed classes for those participating in the lesson program of the Lincoln Saddle Horse Club.

Riders in these classes range from 8 years to adults. They have been taking lessons at the club since May.

Officers of the Lincoln Saddle Horse Club for 1953 are:

Lowell Boomer, president.
Raymond Beby, first vice president.
H. E. Gerlson, second vice president.
Norma Jean Palmer, secretary.
J. E. Sloss, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. William Steele, activities chairmen.

Vacation Days Are Camp Days for Modern Youth

In days of old, summer vacations for children were lazy days—but also were wasted days, as if time were being marked until school would open again in the fall.

Not so for today's children—and actually not possible for today's children—for when Nebraska camps raise the beckoning finger, and lure children into the woods for healthy recreation and worthwhile pursuits, the lists are filled with eager campers.

From June 28 through Aug. 2, at Camp Catron on Goose Hill Road near Nebraska City, young Brownies, and slightly older Girl Scouts will harken to the call of camp. However, the camp is open to all Nebraska girls who have completed the fourth grade and above.

The campers live in sturdy waterproof tents with girls of their own ages. Qualified, trained counselors give lessons in the crafts, nature studies, archery, swimming, fishing, folk dancing and dramatics.

Mrs. R. A. Thornton is camp director, and is assisted by Miss Ruth Ann Richmond, business manager; Miss Esther Barkhurst, RN, and Mrs. Dale Bloss, cook.

Unit counselors include:
Miss Jo Ann Rezabek, Crete
Miss Shirley Magill, Herman
Miss Bonnie Voltke, Broken Bow
Miss Sherri Whitman, Lincoln.
Mrs. Meredith Moore, Pdhst.
Mrs. Neal Hadsell, Lincoln
Mrs. M. W. Wright, Lincoln.

Following the camp period for girl campers, the Girl Scout office has announced there will be a family camp for Mother, Dad and the children. Families will meet on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Girl Scout office to plan the program and make final arrangements for the family camp.

Families to Go All-out for Father on His Annual Day

By HELEN HAGGIE
Women's News Editor

One of the comparatively new holidays, observed nationally, is just around the corner And thoughts are centering around the man of the house

For June 21 is the day known as Father's Day The one day of the year, when the giver of all good things to his family, is the recipient of special gifts, cards and attentions It is a day of great importance to the small fry, their older brothers and sisters and their mothers

And the piggy banks have been shaken, the pennies and dimes have been clutched in small hands as shopping tours have been scheduled The question on the youngsters' lips is What will daddy like best?"

There will be new pipes in pretty packages, there will be books, clothing, cigarettes, gadgets, sports, hunting and fishing equipment and other gifts in store for father next Sunday And all fathers will be on the receiving instead of the giving end of the gift exchange Until he gets the monthly bill!

There will be special events planned for dad In the morning when he has been the center of attention opening his gifts, he will find also that he may have not only the sports section of his favorite newspaper first, but also will have the first opportunity to read the comics

During the day, special menus will be planned and the food will include his favorite dishes

On that day, Dad's slightest wish will be law, without argument or dissent It is HIS day.

He will probably find that he may view his favorite TV program without insisting that the children's favorite show be turned off for the youngsters will make every effort to please DAD

Mrs John Druce Dodd of Spokane, Wash, is credited with first suggesting a special day for fathers She wished to pay special tribute to her own father and made the suggestion in 1909 A Fathers Day was celebrated in 1910, but only more recently has it become a national observance

A national committee, known as the National Father's Day Committee, chooses a Father of the Year The first selection was made in 1942, when Gen Douglas MacArthur was chosen Others winners are

1943 Gen Dwight D Eisenhower
1944 Gen Mark Clark
1945 Pres Harry S Truman
1946 Al Schmid
1947 Drew Pearson
1948 Warren R Austin
1949 Dr Ralph J Bunche
1950 Justice William O Douglas
1951 Sen Estes Kefauver
1952 Brig Gen David Sarnoff

Just as Mother's Day has a flower symbol of a carnation, so too is there a flower symbol for Father's Day the rose And some fathers with gardening as a hobby like to have a new rose bush for their garden . . . Which may be in the form of a promise when the proper planting time for roses rolls around again

So often it's heard—"What shall we get for father this year . . . he has everything!" But there are so many items that a father would love, if he were just spending his money foolishly on himself . . but which he wouldn't think of purchasing because the family needs something, or wants something

If father is a hobbyist, there are delightful model-building kits reproductions of railroad equipment, automobiles, and even covered wagons. There are new stamp albums, woodworking tools and metal craft equipment

New reclining chairs, snack bars on wheels, grills are wonderful for fathers that like backyard dining out and if he is a chef new tools such as forks, spatulas, as well as aprons and chefs' caps are fun

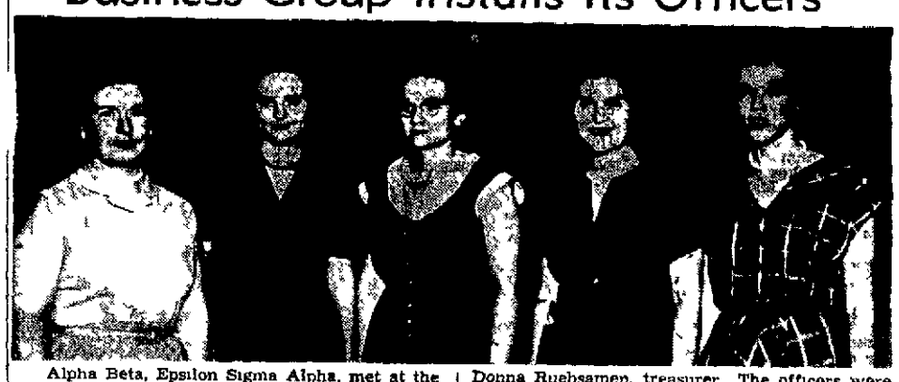
Ties pajamas, jackets shirts Father would love any or all Particularly in the new materials that require the minimum of cleansing and pressing care

Smoking accessories and lighters are always fine gifts, and gadget-minded men like the suction-cup golf ball retriever, the card shuffler and the screw driver with a flashlight handle.

Luggage, cameras, fishing equipment, hunting jackets . . . the list could go on forever, and most fathers have most of their lives been doing with the minimum for themselves They would welcome any of the extras they have long had their eyes on, but haven't felt they should splurge for

It comes but once a year . . . but next Sunday, Fathers will be kings

Business Group Installs Its Officers



Alpha Beta, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, met at the home of Esther Mae Culwell and installed officers They are (from left) Miss Mary Stout, president, Miss Mearldine Roker, vice president, Miss Esther Culwell, recording secretary Mrs William Tallichet, corresponding secretary, and Mrs Donna Ruebsamen, treasurer The officers were in charge of a picnic at Antelope Park, honoring Sgt Rita Van House, ESA, from Wright-Patterson Field, Dayton, O, who is visiting in Lincoln Miss Stout presented the gavel to Miss Elinor Stephenson, retiring president Plans are being made for an all-sorority picnic on Monday

Snack Dip

Here is a simple and decorative sauce for snack-dipping at summer parties Mash two medium avocados (about one-half cup of pulp) until smooth Beat in one tablespoon lemon juice, one-fourth teaspoon each of salt, ground black pepper and chili powder, a tablespoon of grated onion and two tablespoons chopped ripe tomato

Chill until very cold and garnish with a final dash of ground black pepper Strips of raw carrot or celery add a little variety to the usual accompaniment of crackers

Rattled Rats, Once Carefree, Get Ulcers

Rodents Suffer for Science

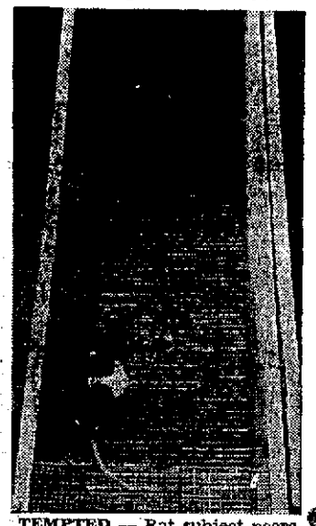
Medical records show that the odds are 10 to 1 that sometime during your lifetime you'll become a victim of one of civilization's hazards—stomach ulcers.

And the primary cause of this affliction can be traced directly to worry, anxiety, fear, or conflict, physicians, physiologists and psychologists agree.

But not until an imaginative 27-year-old University of Nebraska student tackled the problem did any one show by direct experimental evidence that emotional strains can produce gastric, or stomach ulcers.

* * *

TWO YEARS ago, John Weisz of Hot Springs, S. D., launched his program at the University in at attempt to induce the formation of ulcers in worry-free rats by subjecting them to emotional stresses. He believed there was a need for direct research evidence to strengthen medical beliefs on the subject.



TEMPTED — Rat subject peers across the electrically charged area separating it from food in the conflict situation. Only the upper half of brass rod floor is charged.

Earlier studies of animals and humans have shown that chronic anxiety and chronic fear increase the secretion of gastric juices, a digestive fluid secreted by the glands in the stomach. Since the fluid contains some free hydrochloric acid, they conclude that the excessive amount of secretion erodes the stomach linings, resulting in ulcers.

Dr. Harry Shay and co-workers of Philadelphia formed gastric ulcers in rats by tying the small intestine of fasting animals.

Weisz, who had received his Bachelor's and Master's degrees from the University of Nebraska, reasoned that if ulcers can be produced surgically, they also could be formed by the application of mental stresses, such as conflict and fear.

After encouragement from Dr. William Arnold, professor of psychology, Weisz began his two-year studies with some 100 carefree rats as subjects.

THE FIRST step was a preliminary study to learn if his reasoning was correct. Weisz decided to subject his rats, which in their natural uncivilized environment never have ulcers, to a conflict situation; that is, a situation which would produce in the animal two opposing desires or tendencies. To accomplish this, Weisz constructed a large rectangular box with brass rods, a half inch apart, forming a floor. He electrically wired the rods so that the animal received a shock whenever it touched any of the two rods. Only the center of the floor remained uncharged. Then, Weisz placed food at one end of the box and water at the other.

With such an apparatus, three factors were actually involved in this situation: (1) conflict—the rats desired the food and water but in their attempt to obtain it would have to withstand the disagreeable shock; (2) deprivation—although food and water were present, shock made them actually inaccessible to the rats for 47-hour periods; and (3) seeing and smelling of the food and water, which produced secretion of gastric juice in the rat's stomach.

The results, although inconclusive, proved that ulcers could be produced and set the stage for the expansion of Weisz's studies, the isolation of the major causes of ulcers in rats.

* * *

THE STUDENT-psychologist's primary aim was to determine what effect conflict and fear had upon the formation of ulcers. But he had other factors to contend with, such as deprivation, seeing and smelling of food and water, and shock. In the conflict study, he developed four situations, three of them lacking from one to three factors and the last including all the factors. This method made it possible to isolate the factors by situation comparisons. In the fear study, only two situations were employed.

The results from these four situations indicated that conflict and deprivation were major causes of ulcers.

The last phase of the over-all study dealt with fear, which Weisz created by using a rectangular box with an electrically charged grid rod floor and an overhanging light. During a 5½-minute pattern, the light would flash 15 times while the shock would appear only seven times. The light flashed each time the shock was presented, but the other eight times the light flashed and no shock was presented. This pattern placed the rats in constant fear, not knowing whether the shock would be presented when the light flashed.

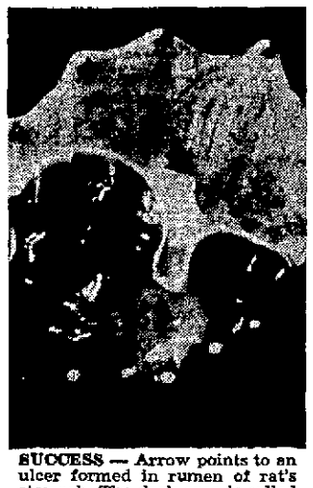
THE RESULTS again pointed up the importance of deprivation as a prerequisite in the formation of ulcers and also showed that the addition of fear to the deprivation factor will increase the rate of ulcers in rats.

Weisz, who expects to use these studies in obtaining his doctorate degree, does not contend that the findings are applicable to formation of ulcers in the human stomach. He explains that the stomach of rats and humans are different in general structure. But he does believe that his studies will act as stepping stones toward a study of producing ulcers in animals whose stomachs are similar to man's. This latter project then may prove invaluable not only to the treatment but also to the prevention of gastric ulcers.



SUCCESS — Arrow points to an ulcer formed in rumen of rat's stomach. The dark area is called the glandular portion; the line separating it from the rumen (lighter area) is called the "limiting ridge."

How Capital City Police Check for Vice

Lincoln's 'Clean' Reputation Documented by Rookie Policeman's Search for Illicit Liquor and Women

The newest patrolman on Lincoln's Police Department will tell you that vice in Nebraska's capital city remains at what he terms "a negligible level."

The new officer speaks with the voice of recent experience.

Before putting on the police uniform and starting his work as a night patrolman with least seniority, the 24-year-old veteran of both the Army and the Marine Corps tried to buy a drink off hours and to find a prostitute at a hotel or rooming house.

His work resulted in but one arrest—that of a woman on whom police women had previously received complaints. Patrolman Doe, admitted to her apartment early one Sunday morning, summoned waiting fellow officers by a prearranged signal. On basis of evidence gathered by Patrolman Doe, the woman was sentenced for vagrancy to the Women's Reformatory at York.

* * *

THE NEW OFFICER, Patrolman Doe (that's not his real name, of course) embarked on the hunt for liquor and loose women, wearing his service uniform a part of the time, and civilian clothes on other occasions. Always he was under supervision of two seasoned detectives of the vice squad, in the background.

Patrolman Doe's eight pages of supplementary reports were read carefully by Chief of Police Joseph Carroll, who commented: "His report verified our opinion: Prostitution and gambling is pretty nil in Lincoln on a commercial basis . . . and we are going to keep it that way. . . ."

Confirming Chief Carroll's summary was the voluminous report reciting Patrolman Doe's interviews with roadhouse waitresses and operators, rooming house operators, cab drivers, bell hops, other individuals he encountered during a full week end of hunting women and drink in Lincoln.

* * *

Saturday Night

10:50 p.m.—Officer Doe was taken to the Burlington depot. He took a taxicab to Hotel X. Doe made inquiry as to where he "might find a woman." The cab driver replied that this is a clean town, and he did not know where you would be able to contact one.

SECTION D
Sunday Journal and Star Feature Section
LINCOLN, NEB., SUNDAY, JUNE 14, 1953

11 p.m.—Doe registered at X Hotel. He contacted the bellboy and again attempted to get a girl. The bellboy could not accommodate him.

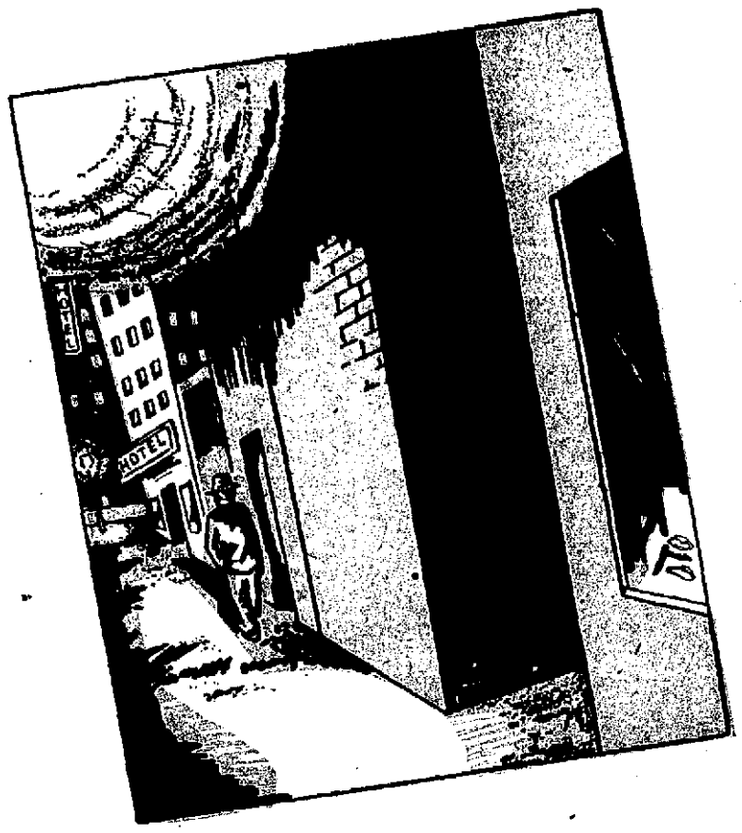
11:27 p.m.—Doe took another taxicab from the Union Bus Depot to the V Hotel. He questioned this cab driver as to where he might find a woman. The reply was: "The police cleaned up the town because of the Air Base coming into Lincoln."

11:30 p.m.—Doe registered at the V Hotel. Doe contacted the bellboy and asked if he knew where he could get a girl. The bellboy stated he would like to get into the business but the girls would not associate with the bellhops, and added: "The only thing that comes into the hotel is someone that a guy picks up on the streets."

Sunday Morning

12:15 a.m.—Doe was taken to the Burlington Depot. He contacted the red caps as to where he might be able to get a girl or buy some liquor. They could give him no information.

12:18 a.m.—Doe took a third taxicab from the Burlington Depot to the Z Hotel. He contacted the clerk on duty . . . asked him if he knew where he might be able to get a girl and he stated that he did not have any but that sometimes girls came in and sat in the lobby looking around for men. The clerk stated that college girls frequently used the hotel for "shack jobs." The clerk also stated that if you went to the W Hotel, and contacted the bellboy, that you would be able to get a woman for $20—but the room would probably cost extra.



12:45 a.m.—Doe was taken to a spot on Cornhusker Highway, remaining there approximately 25 minutes, during which time he contacted the waitress and attempted to make a "buy" (of liquor). He was informed that everything was closed at midnight in this respect. The operator of the spot confirmed the waitress' statement.

1 a.m.—Doe was taken to an apartment (in a residential section) occupied by Mrs. 3. (Police had received information, earlier, regarding Mrs. 3's activities.) Doe was admitted to the apartment by her, and she was clad only in a nightgown. Doe talked to her for some time and then gave her some wine which he had taken with him. Mrs. 3 asked Doe in regards to how he knew she lived at this particular address and he related to her that a friend had told him. Doe stated that he had just been released from the Army, and had some money to get rid of to have a good time. Doe talked to Mrs. 3 for some time, and then she asked him if he had some money he wanted to get rid of, and he said yes. He asked her if $5 would be all right. She said yes.

1:30 a.m.—Officer Doe turned out the lights, which was a prearranged signal. Two officers accompanying Doe went to the apartment and knocked on the door. They were admitted by Doe. . . . Doe stated he had given Mrs. 3 $5 and that she had stuck it in her anklet. Five dollars that was removed held the serial number J43984196A. Mrs. 3 admitted that the $5 had been paid to her by Doe . . . Mrs. 3 was . . . brought to police headquarters. She was questioned relative to her activities in the past. Mrs. 3 stated that she had, on several occasions in the past, taken money for her services . . . She further stated that she is not employed, and that she has no income . . .

(Charged by the state with vagrancy, she was sentenced by County Judge Herbert Ronin to the Woman's Reformatory at York . . .).

3:20 a.m.—Doe took still another cab from the W Hotel to a downtown address (operated by a man with a known police record). He went upstairs, walked around, but could contact no one. The driver of the cab stated he had taken several people to this address, but as far as he knows, they did not make a purchase of liquor. The driver stated he was afraid to mess around with "women."

3:50 a.m.—Officer Doe took another cab from the Union Bus Depot to a cabin camp (frequently mentioned in police reports). The cab driver did not know any place where a woman could be contacted or where he could buy liquor. Officer Doe had, on his person, about half a pint of tea in a whisky bottle, to give the effect that he had been drinking. When he entered the cabin camp lunchroom and was seated in a booth with another man, he observed there were whisky bottles at all tables and booths but that there was no dancing or rowdyism.

4 a.m.—There were 16 cars parked at the cabin camp. Doe attempted to purchase some liquor from the waitress, but could not do so. (Two officers of the police department were parked across the street in a field at the time Doe was at the cabin camp). A check of all the cabins was made, and none was found to be occupied. Cars were constantly coming and going, but there was nothing of any consequence that occurred on the lot.

5 a.m.—There were 12 cars parked at the cabin camp. Doe used a fictitious name when he registered at the hotels.

Sunday Night

9:40 p.m.—Doe took another taxicab from the bus depot to return to a downtown address operated by a person whose name is familiar to police. Doe went upstairs and contacted "a young fellow who came out of one of the rooms and met him in the hall." The young fellow asked Doe who he was looking for. Doe said that he would like to buy a bottle. The man asked Doe who sent him there. Doe replied that a driver had told him of it. The young man stated that the party who sells liquor was not there at the present time, but would be back shortly. Doe told him he would be back in half an hour. . . . After knocking on the door, a man (police said they recognized the man by Officer Doe's description of him) came to the door. After being asked for a bottle, the man replied he had sold it all in the morning. He also stated there were three or four places in town in which Doe might be able to make a buy—but he would not disclose their whereabouts, for the reason that Doe is not known. . . . Officer Doe was taken to the bus depot, where he hung around for sometime and mingled with the cab drivers. He was unable to obtain any information.

Monday Night

8:15 p.m.—Officer Doe took still another taxicab from the Burlington depot to the W Hotel. He went into the hotel and contacted another bellboy and asked if he might be able to get him a girl. The bellboy stated there was nothing like that at the W. Hotel.

8:35 p.m.—Fellow officers took Doe to an address on Blank Street. Doe contacted a man there and asked about a girl, but the man referred Doe to the caretaker's apartment, occupied by a man and family. Doe knocked on the door and several small children in the apartment stated their mother was gone. The apartment was locked from the inside. (Police planned to check, to determine when the mother returned to the home).

8:52 p.m.—Doe was taken to another (downtown) rooming house. He contacted A——, and asked if he could get a girl. A—— stated that they had no women, but advised Doe to go downstairs to B——'s tavern, and he could "possibly get a pick-up."

9:05 p.m.—Doe caught a cab at the X Hotel, went to an address on Q Street, to Miss C——'s. Doe attempted to make a contact and was flatly refused. (Police had previous information that a taxicab driver, a man, was said to be "pimping" for Miss C——, and also supposed to be selling liquor. We found out he is working days, so was unable to contact him. . . .

10:20 p.m.—Doe went to a downtown apartment house, and contacted a woman (Miss 1, who had previously been mentioned in a supplement by the police woman as a possible "call girl"). The response was such that would not indicate any such situation, as Miss 1 refused to admit Doe to her apartment. In Doe's opinion "there is nothing wrong in the Miss 1 case." Miss 2 (who lives at another address downtown) was contacted by phone. Doe (assisted by fellow officers assigned to escort him on the tour) attempted to make a date with her, but her conversation indicated she would not welcome strangers. Miss 2 stated she was "living alone at the present time," that she formerly had lived with the two other girls, and while she was gone on her vacation, "these two other girls had a party, which nearly cost her her apartment." Miss 2 stated "she did not approve of this type of conduct," so no personal contact was made.

10:45 p.m.—Doe went to the T Hotel. He attempted to get a girl, but was informed the "town was too hot" for such actions.

Haste, With Care, Is Guide for Basin Archaeological Exploration

By AL REMMENGA
Sunday Staff Writer

"You can't practice archaeology in a diving bell," says Robert Stevenson, director of the Smithsonian Institute at the University of Nebraska, in explaining the inter-agency archaeological salvage program which is being continued this year in the Missouri River Basin.

The purpose of the various expeditions going out this year is to conduct archaeological research in the soon-to-be-flooded Missouri River dam sites before the former homes and campsites of anicent Indians are inundated, Stevenson adds.

This year's research campaign is being conducted by the National Park Service with many co-operating state and federal agencies, including the Bureau of Reclamation, Army Corps of Engineers, Smithsonian Institution, Nebraska State Historical Society, the University of Nebraska and many other midwest universities and societies.

* * *

THE RESEARCH these agencies are carrying out includes the salvage, preservation and interpretation of the many and varied historical, archaeological and paleontological remains in areas which will be inundated by large government-sponsored multi-purpose dams and related projects.

First action by these agencies, which operate under the direction of the Committee for the Recovery of Archaeological Remains, was taken in 1945 when many archaeologists and scientists became alarmed at the amount of scientific data which would be flooded or otherwise damaged as a result of the river control projects. Areas earmarked for research this summer are the Garrison, Ft. Randall, and Oahe dam sites in South Dakota, according to Stevenson. The Garrison and Randall sites are in the process of being flooded and the Oahe site is so large that work must be begun at once if the research program is to be completed before the dam site will be flooded.

* * *

STEVENSON SAYS that of the 319 known Indian encampments in the Oahe Basin, only 71 can possibly be excavated before the dam site is inundated.

The agencies have made extensive surveys at all three of these areas and excavations will be made at various sites especially selected to return the maximum amount of information for the minimum investment of funds.

Since beginning the program in 1946, the combined agencies have made archaeological surveys in 185 proposed reservoir areas besides conducting excavations in 18 additional areas. The group estimates that only 10 per cent of the remains can be partially investigated at best.

Primitive man needed water and arable land, therefore, 80 per cent of the Indian remains are found along river bottoms.

* * *

IN CONDUCTING an archaeological recovery expedition, survey parties conduct first examinations of entire areas through personal examination, talking with present inhabitants of the area, or by aerial photographs. By these means, they are able to discover where former Indian encampments were, to select the best areas for evacuation, and to recommend just what has to be salvaged.

After definite areas are selected for excavation, small parties of workers, mostly college and graduate students, are sent out under the direction of one trained archaeologist and one trained assistant.

The "over-burden," or soil and debris covering the ancient encampments, is removed either by hand or by heavy machinery if quite deep.

Possibly three or four months may pass during the excavation of one site. Equipment varying from a bulldozer to a penknife may be used in retrieving materials which are photographed in the position they occupy when found and then are sent to the "home office" for further cleaning, examining and cataloging.

* * *

THE ARCHAEOLOGISTS then analyze what the discoveries, and their position when found, mean. The principal purpose of the archaeologist, according to Stevenson, is to reconstruct the Indian life.

If one should ask to what end all this labor, scientists reply: To know the past is to be better equipped to deal with the present and future.

Material recovered by these and other excavations and surveys indicates that man lived in many areas of the United States over 10,000 years ago.

STEPS IN DIGGING, PROCESSING—Picture at left shows digging operations at historic old Ft. Stevenson in the Garrison Reservoir. The area is staked out in squares 10 feet each way; squares are carefully dug and sifted by hand. Only a small sample area of any single plot can be uncovered for study. Second picture shows how the archeologists use hand brushes and plasterer's trowels in careful cleaning of artifacts disclosed by their digging. Another step in preparation of the materials for study and display is shown in the picture at right: Restoration of a pottery storage jar from fragments found at an ancient Indian village site in the Oahe Reservoir area near Pierre, S. D. Lee Madison is the workman.

FINISHED ARTIFACT DISPLAY—Robert Stevenson of the Smithsonian Institute unit in Lincoln looks at an Indian necklace in a display of artifacts obtained by the Institute, the National Park Service and universities of the area.

Vigilance Is the Price of Safety

Drowning Takes Heavy Toll; Here Are Rules of Water Safety

Accidental drowning in Nebraska has taken almost five times as many lives annually as have been killed by the combined forces of lightning, tornadoes and floods, according to the State Bureau of Vital Statistics.

One thousand thirty-three persons have drowned in Nebraska since 1933, an average of 51 each year, mainly because swimmers do not know or do not follow a few easy-to-learn swimming safety rules. Surprisingly enough, most of these drowning deaths occurred in the 20 to 24-year-old age group.

The figures showed that 67 tornado deaths had been recorded in that span with this year's toll—16—leading all others. Ninety-nine persons have died from floods and 76 from lightning in the period. The 1953 tornado death figure is from Jan. 1 to June 8.

The No. 1 rule for summertime swimmers to remember is not to swim alone or in some deserted area. The greatest percentage of drowning deaths occur in sandpits, creeks and farm ponds—not in supervised swimming pools. The old swimmin' hole may be a lot of fun but it can be a treacherous place for a dip on a hot summer afternoon.

Learn to swim and not by the trial and error method, but under the supervision of a trained swimming instructor. Many larger high schools give courses in swimming and nearly every swimming pool in Nebraska offers summer lessons—free or at a very small charge.

Don't swim alone.* Even if the old swimmin' hole is the only place to cool off, make sure someone is near who can assist you if you should get into trouble. A rubber raft or even an inflated tire tube will make swimming a lot safer.

Don't go swimming shortly after eating or after strenuous exercise. The body is extremely inefficient at these times and contact with cold water may cause cramps and almost certain drowning if assistance is not near.

Stay out of deep water even though you may be an average swimmer. You never know when you may find trouble and it is just as much fun swimming in five feet of water as it is in 20 feet of water. Play it safe and you won't be playing with deaths.

Everyone who swims should learn and practice artificial respiration—not for your safety but for that of someone else. Anytime you are swimming, someone may suddenly need artificial respiration and think how helpless you would be if you could not render aid while someone else is dying.

Use the safety devices provided at swimming pools. Pools are marked off, floating devises installed and life guards provided—to help you, not watch you drown. Call the life guard anytime you are in the slightest trouble. He may save your life.

Don't swim too long. One of the most common causes of drowning is over exertion either before or while swimming. Get out of the pool and dry yourself whenever you feel tired or have been in the water for over two hours.

Last but the most important rule of all, think and act clearly while you are in the water. Be careful, swim safely, and know what to do if an emergency develops. Don't play "tricks" on others while they are swimming and don't try to "show-off" in the water—it is a treacherous and deadly place to act foolishly. anpcd

Swimming can be a lot of fun but swim safely and carefully and it will be real enjoyment—not death.

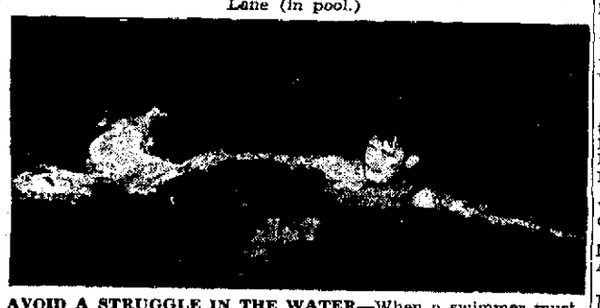
DON'T SWIM ALONE—Winifred Cook and James Graham demonstrate the proper approach to a deep water area.

KIDDIES STAY IN SHALLOW POOL—And they should be supervised.

MANY RESCUES CAN BE MADE WITHOUT GETTING WET—Use of a pole or oar to rescue swimmers in distress is advised where possible, and it's about the only way when the rescue is a non-swimmer. Demonstrating are Virginia Gessner (with oar) and Marilyn Lane (in pool.)



AVOID A STRUGGLE IN THE WATER—When a swimmer must go to the rescue, he should approach the distressed person from the rear, grasp him by the clothing or under the chin and tow him to safety. Demonstrating the technique are Marvin Churchill and Tom Wall.

Heiliger Funeral Set for Monday

CHAPPELL — The funeral of Mrs. J. P. Heiliger, 85, will be Monday afternoon at the Lutheran Church. Mrs. Heiliger, a Chappell resident for 33 years, died Friday.

Mrs. Heiliger came to Chappell in 1920 from Jefferson County. Her husband died in 1950.

Daily Classes At Muny Pool

More than 2,000 youngsters have registered for the "Learn to Swim" program at the Municipal swimming pool which opens Monday, according to Mrs. Viola Brown, a member of the instructional staff. This swimming program follows the YMCA and YWCA swimming programs which ended this past week.

The classes will continue for three weeks. Classes of 45 minutes each will be held daily, Monday through Friday. The first of three classes begins at 9:15 a.m., followed by 10:15 a.m. and 11:15 a.m. sessions.

* * *

HARRY Kuklin, swimming coach at Lincoln High School, is in charge of this year's "Learn to Swim" program at Muny pool. His administrative assistants are Philip Sprague, Lincoln High School gymnastics coach, and Mrs. Viola Brown, who has been in charge of the "Learn to Swim" program at Northeast High School for a number of years.

Mrs. Brown stated that although most of the registration for the free swimming lessons, was conducted before Lincoln schools were out, nearly 300 children have registered for the 9:15 a.m. class.

The free lessons are being given to non-swimmers from the third grade up to the age of 17. Instructors will be volunteers from both Lincoln high schools and the University of Nebraska.

* * *

ONE THOUSAND children will be given instruction in the first three week class and over 700 children have signed up for the second three week course, according to Warren Emery, University of Nebraska swimming coach and Lancaster County Water Safety Chairman for the Red Cross.

Registration is closed for the first session, said Emery, but applications may still be made at the local offices of the Lincoln Chapter of Red Cross for the second session.

The "Learn to Swim" program, now in its fifth year in Lincoln, is being sponsored by the City Recreation Program, the entire Lancaster County School system, and the Lancaster County Red Cross. Classes were formally held at the Northeast High School swimming pool but were moved to the Municipal Pool this year because of repairs at the former location.

Debra, Debbra Debbie, Debie?

The name "Debra," one of the names having a current popularity when Lincoln parents name new-born daughters, has its local variations of spelling.

The name—or a variation of it—was given to three of the six girls whose birth certificates appeared in City-County Health Department records for an official filing Saturday.

Debra Lynn Franz, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Franz of 1820 Euclid will follow the straight Hollywood spelling.

But Debbra Arlene Felton, daughter of the George Allen Feltons of 419 No. 10th, will spell her name with two "b's".

A third variation will be followed by Debora Sue Smith, daughter of the Kenneth Vernon Smiths of Rt. 5, Lincoln.

Other variations of the name that have appeared in birth records of late are "Debbie," "Debie," and the more formal "Deborah."

Improvements To Be Sought By Concordia

SEWARD — Improvements for the Concordia Teachers College in Seward will be considered next week by a committee at the triennial convention of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, which will meet in Houston, Tex.

Concordia has requested a physical education building, a women's dormitory, a men's dormitory, an organ for the new chapel addition, a new classroom building, additional street improvement and landscaping, and funds for expanding the training school plant owned by St. John's Lutheran Church.

Other requests are that Concordia be considered as a Lutheran high school teacher training institution and that a plan be adopted whereby professors can buy their own housing.

At Houston, the Associated Press reported Saturday that the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod board of higher education has recommended $4,779,850 be spent for new buildings and improvements at 14 seminaries and colleges.

Project proposals have been submitted to a committee on colleges and seminaries which will make final recommendations next week before the triennial convention.

Largest item among the board's suggestions is $1,200,000 for a proposed senior college. One of the major items of business to be placed before the 11-day convention starting Wednesday is selecting of a site for the senior college. The committee now in session is expected to recommend Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Recommended construction and improvements expenditures, grouped in the order of suggested priority, included:

Projects approved by 1950 convention but not completed:

Platform of Young GOP Concurs With Ike Aims

RAPID CITY, S. D., (AP)—Delegates to the Young Republican national convention here Saturday adopted a platform which in general concurred with the aims of the Republican administration as outlined by President Eisenhower.

The largest plank was devoted to foreign affairs and was divided into specific areas including:

Korea—Conclusion of hostilities and an immediate and honorable armistice with a unified Korea and free elections.

Asia—Increased military and financial assistance to Indo-China and Nationalist Chinese government. Opposed to the recognition of the Chinese Communists and the admission of Red China to the U.N.

Western Europe— Increase the tempo of "psychological counter attack" on Communism. Immediate signing of the Austrian peace treaty, unification of a democratic Germany with internationally supervised free elections.

United Nations— United States should prepare specific proposals for U.N. charter revision defining and limiting U.N. jurisdiction to provide for the prevention of war and armament control recognizing the inability of the U.N. as presently constituted to preserve peace.

Other planks of the Young GOP platform and some of the provisions included were:

Treaty-making Power—A restudy and re-valuation of the treaty making powers of the Constitution by the administration.

Labor—Favored the basic law and principles of the Taft-Hartley law but asked for a federally appointed commision to study and reevaluate.

Agriculture — Continuation of present price support program including price supports on basic commodities at 90 per cent of parity.

Public power—A review and revision where necessary of all power policies with assurance of maximum protection of state's interests.

Civic affairs—Lowering of minimum votoing age to 18 years (as recommended by National Party Chairman Leonard Hall during Thursday's keynote address). Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii. Equal opportunity for sexes and races with immediate enactment of fair employment practices legislation in each of the individual states.

Pig Crop Report Ready June 22

State-Federal Crop Statistician A. E. Anderson of Lincoln—one of three field men to serve on the June pig survey board in Washington—left Saturday night for the nation's capitol. The board's report is to be published June 22.

There is an unusual interest in the survey at this time because the hog supply is down and hog prices are higher than cattle prices.

In 1952, Anderson pointed out, national pig production was off 10 per cent and Nebraska's production skidded 19 per cent.

Farmers last December expressed intentions of a 1953 spring pig crop that would be a 13 per cent reduction nationally and 16 per cent drop in Nebraska, Anderson reported.

The survey report when released will show the actual spring pig crop production for this year along with an estimate for the fall pig crop.

OPPD to Provide Service to LaPlatte

OMAHA, (AP)—Omaha Public Power District directors authorized General Manager F. J. Moylan to make an agreement with Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation for service to its plant at La Platte.

Allied will be OPPD's largest single customer, Moylan said, using an estimated 62 million kilowatts of electricity yearly.

Nebraska Dust Hard to Shake

WILBER—Two teen-age Wisconsin brothers are having a hard time getting transportation out of Nebraska.

Early last week they were picked up by Nebraska State Safety Patrolman W. L. Flowers near Exeter in a car that had been stolen at Friend a short time earlier. They were lodged in the Saline County Jail here to await trial on auto theft charges.

A few days and one jailbreak later they were arrested by Safety Patrolman Claude Whitney in another car that had been reported stolen only 30 minutes before they were arrested.

The boys were returned to the Saline County Jail, where Sheriff John Tesar was surprised to see them. He hadn't yet discovered they were missing.

They had escaped, they said, when the younger boy, a slender 16-year-old, crawled through a tiny window leading into the jail kitchen, then let out his 18-year-old brother.

Faced with two auto theft counts and a jail break charge the boys may remain in Nebraska longer than they had planned though they are also wanted by Wisconsin authorities.

All-Staters To Perform

Musicians from the All-State Fine Arts course will present their first public rehearsal at 3 p.m. today in the NU Student Union.

All-Staters attended an organ recital Saturday afternoon at First-Plymouth Congregational Church. Milford Myhre was organist.

Saline Wheat Prospects Good

CRETE (AP)—County Agent J. V. Cain says Saline County's chances for a good wheat crop are excellent, barring unusually bad growing weather.

Wheat planted last fall is doing better than the late crop, Cain reported.

Though prospects are excellent, he said, yields probably will not be as great as last year's bumper crop.

Sponsors Say This Year's Girls State 'Best'

As Girls Staters prepare to close a busy week on Monday, their sponsors judge the 1953 session "one of the very best Girls States we have ever had."

Mrs. John E. Curtiss, president, said Girls State this year attracted "a higher type of girls, who have outstanding abilities and are interested in things governmental." The attitude this year, she continued, has been, "What can I do for government?," rather than "What can government do for me?"

Girls from small Nebraska towns have been particularly outstanding in the 1953 Girls State, Mrs. Curtiss pointed out.

Mrs. G. H. Harms, state president of the American Legion Auxiliary, which sponsors Girls State, praised the officials who have addressed the girls. She felt that one of the best features of the 1953 session has been the open discussion periods after each official's speech.

* * *

GIRLS STATERS themselves agreed that the session has been worthwhile. Beverly Buck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Buck of Lincoln, was most impressed by the political conventions. "Politics here is the real thing," she said.

Miss Buck also commented on the "interested and intelligent view" Girls Staters have taken in political discussions. She said the girls hadn't realized "how adult they are."

A tour of the State Capitol was reported by Genevieve Graff of York as the most interesting event of the week. Her biggest thrill was "coming to a completely new place and working with completely new girls."

Miss Graff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Graff Jr., compared Girls State with high school county government days. She said voting at Girls State is determined by how hard candidates have worked and how qualified they are rather than by their personal popularity.

* * *

IN ANTICIPATION of the close of Girls State, a reunion banquet was held Saturday evening. With the theme, "Girls State of the Nation," a television program, alumnae reflected on how Girls State training has applied in their lives. Barbara Adams, 1949 Girls Stater from North Platte, was in charge of the banquet.

Other business Saturday included a talk on county government by Roland R. Bailey and meetings of the Girls State county boards. A tour of the State Capitol highlighted the afternoon.

Girls were scheduled to attend religious services early Sunday morning in the Love Memorial Library auditorium. The Rev. T. R. Jones, chaplain at the U.S. Veterans' Hospital, was to give the sermon. Offering from the services will go into a Girls State fund to purchase a piano for the Love Library Auditorium.

The session will close Monday with commencement at the Student Union. Essay winners will be announced, and other awards will be given at that time.

Not All War Casualties in Korea—Families Also Affected

Far from the fierce and rugged battles on the Korean hillsides 7,000 miles away, hundreds of battles—almost as important as life itself—are fought each month in every part of the country.

These are the often unreported and unglorified skirmishes of the war that happen not on the battlefield but right at home

* * *

THEY ARE the backwash of the war They are the lonely wife on the primrose path, the family broken up by the call to war, the dying parent lingering on with the hope of one more glimpse of a soldier son, the young war widow expecting her third child, or the frantic mother worried about her injured son in Korea

The social worker's terminology describes it as 'family disorganization due to the impact of mobilization" the individuals and the families seeking assistance call it "superhuman and insurmountable problems," but the home service department of the Red Cross calls it "our everyday job"

It is the job of the home service worker to help those in need as a result of the war, for they cannot help themselves and often a well-organized department such as the Red Cross can solve their problems. This department is ready to help with any and every need including communication service, application for benefits, financial need, or counseling service

* * *

THE LOCAL home service department of the Lincoln Red Cross handled 278 individual cases in May at a cost of $2,257, according to Mrs Alyce Miller, director of the department "No two of these cases were alike and our work isn't something that could be measured in dollars or in cases in the files," she says

The Red Cross has found that these services are needed Not all the sacrifices are made on the battle field and not as much zeal is shown to help the widow, the mother or family as in World War II This is a "war that nobody wants," Mrs Miller explains

The Red Cross is always ready and willing to step in and help those in need adds Mrs Miller 'We are able to help in every case or else we know where to obtain help" The local chapter has worked in co-operation with the Army and Navy many times to bring peace to the 'battles at home

Harold Hill, chairman of the Lincoln Red Cross, points out that 'as a national organization we have men and women on the other end in Korea to really make our home service work"

* * *

A serviceman in Korea was notified that his wife in Lincoln was injured in an automobile accident How serious? He didn't know By contacting Red Cross officials in Korea who, in turn, contacted the Lincoln home service, he was able to receive the information and return home

The wife of a serviceman in Korea had just moved to Lincoln As a result her allotment checks were delayed In need of financial assistance, she contacted the Lincoln Red Cross home service, which quickly solved the difficulty by contacting the proper authorities What threatened to result in a typical snafu, never happened

And then take the case of the mother who lived with her two children on a farm near Lincoln Her husband was a fighting sergeant in Korea The mother was brought to a Lincoln hospital for medical treatment where it was discovered that she had a severe case of tuberculosis

She had to be taken to a different climate immediately and then there was the problem of her two children Members of the home service of the Lincoln Red Cross arranged with the Army for her transportation to Fitzsimmons Hospital at Denver but then, doctors advised against flight by air so the Red Cross arranged for transportation by train, arranged for the care of her children and were able to fly her husband home from Korea

A young mother's son required an operation for a serious chronic ailment Her husband was returned from Korea before the possibly fatal operation The operation was a success but then the family ran into financial difficulty. Again, the Lincoln home service stepped in and gave the family the assistance they needed

* * *

THE WIFE of a young man called into service could not make both ends meet because her allotment checks did not come through By applying at the Lincoln office, she was able to arrange a grant to provide for herself and family until the checks arrived

The young mother appreciated the help so much that she is now a volunteer worker for the Red Cross and her widowed mother even asked if she might contribute blood for Korea at the next Bloodmobile visit

* * *

ONLY THE names change as the files spell out the stories

A 77-year-old mother seeks her soldier son A lieutenant's wife and his two children, on their way to join him overseas are stranded because her funds went faster than she expected another soldier is brought home to a father stricken with paralysis even the comparatively undramatic case of the mental hospital patient asking for several issues of his favorite magazine

No happy-ever-after ending to many of the cases perhaps but the Red Cross home service is always ready to ease the burden of war—both on the battle field and at home

2 Spades	Pass	3 Diamonds	Pass
3 No Trump	Pass	4 Clubs	Pass
4 Hearts	Pass	6 Clubs	Pass
Pass	Pass

Many latter-day experts would not open with the South hand, but the actual player in that seat was of the old school (for which there is much to be said)! And it was not his habit to pass three-plus honor-tricks He did make the proper concession to 'preparedness" by opening with one club so as to have a spade rebid in reserve over any suit response North might make at the one-level, but matters immediately got a little out of hand when North made the jump response However let's cut short the review of the bidding to get to the play

West opened the diamond queen The ace was played and the top trumps were cashed Then apparently feeling that his best chance was the spade finesse so that he could get rid of dummy's remaining diamond, declarer tried that finesse The result was a two-trick penalty

hTe spade finesse was not the best plan because a combination chance was available After cashing the high trumps the right line was to cash the ace-king of spades (discarding a diamond from dummy) and ruff the spade four If the spade queen happened to drop, South could return to his hand in hearts and throw off dummy's last diamond on the spade jack and if the spade queen failed to fall South could run off hearts in the hope that the defender who held the high trump would also hold three hearts, giving South the chance to discard his own diamond loser on a fourth heart Obviously, this latter opportunity would have developed

Hostile Bluejay Apparently Disliked Meter Reader's Looks

Every occupation has its hazards it seems, some of them from unexpected sources

For E J Cody 28, of 1726 Q who reads meters for Consumers Public Power District, was assailed by a bluejay while on the job recently

* * *

'LET CODY tell it

'I was reading an outside meter in the vicinity of 21st and G Something flew past my shoulder and I thought it was just a bird flying low"

The bird was doing more than just flying low, however It pecked Cody on top of the head while he was putting down the meter reading in his book

'It surprised me more than it hurt actually It felt like a pebble falling on my head," Cody said

* * *

"IT DIDN'T end there

For about a fourth of a block the bluejay would swoop down from tree limb to limb following Cody, who kept his book raised just in case"

The bird wasn't exactly fearless, though 'As soon as I looked at it, it would fly up to a tree limb again"

Cody, who has been reading meters about two years has had trouble with an occasional surly dog but this was the first time a bluejay had picked on him

Editorial Comment and Opinion

The Battle of Nevada U.

Another round in the fight to determine the actual functions of a state university—and incidentally the powers of university regents—was started last week by the ouster of the University of Nevada's biology department head, Dr. Frank J. Richardson. His opposition to policies of President Minard W. Stout, who took that post after heading the University of Minnesota's high school for a year, broke out in April, when he denounced the president's suggestion for lowering entrance requirements so as to allow any high school graduate in Nevada to enter.

Dr. Richardson, local head of the American Association of University Professors, spoke out against relaxing academic requirements and circulated among the faculty reprints of an article by Prof. A. E. Bestor of the University of Illinois. This charged university professors of education and public school administrators with shirking their responsibilities in preparing students for scholastic achievement. The president took this as a personal attack and ordered the biology professor to stop being a "buttinsky around the campus." At once the issue became one of academic freedom, several faculty members charging that the president was trying to muzzle his staff. An uneasy truce patched up then is now broken.

An appeal to the Supreme Court of Nevada is promised, on grounds that the regents in ousting a faculty member had taken it on themselves to determine issues of law as well as of fact.

Whatever the outcome, the real issue is much farther reaching. It bears on the problem of maintaining standards of education that will give Nevada university degrees a standing approaching those of comparable institutions, to say nothing of equippnig graduates to start their real education, which begins after they leave school, on something like an equal footing with others. Finally it involves a problem in semantics that cries for early solution—the real meaning of education, of standards, of intellectual discipline, of achievement.

New Legs for Koreans

Fifty of the 15,000 amputees in Korean hospitals and dispensaries are about to try out the "rice paddy leg," a light low cost device by the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation in New York at the suggestion of Dr. Howard Rusk, its director. Light weight aluminum tube stock, the foundation of the new leg, has stood up well under tests and found to be easy to manipulate in rough terrain and muddy fields. It will cost the wearer $10 to $20 as against $300 to $400 for the standard artificial leg. Three specialists will be sent to Korea next month to help staff a 900-bed hospital set up near Pusan, and to train patients in the use of the new leg. The Korean government will feed and maintain men in the rehabilitation center opened by the Institute, and two U.N. groups will supply technical personnel for job training, and machinery for making prosthetic devices. The American public is contributing money gifts.

Time was when such victims of war got along as best they could with crutches and canes. But these are useless in rice fields, where both planting and harvesting involve stooping. If a bright side to war were conceivable, it might be that showing medical and surgical advances the world over.

Dirty Handed Ambassadors

When a score of 4-H lads from various parts of this country sailed for Europe on Friday, they were not (officially, at least) going sightseeing or holiday making. On the contrary, they expected to wear overalls and to get good and dirty doing just what they had done on the farm ever since they were big enough to tote a milk bucket. True, they will probably find the chores harder and dirtier on European farms, although in Scandinavia and Low Countries, particularly, surprises on this score may lie in wait for them.

Their young hosts are due for some new ideas, too, and for both sides the visit will have many more advantages, tangible and otherwise, than they can probably anticipate. The young guests and hosts will both learn more in a summer than they could from reading many books about each other, and the ultimate consequences of this aid to understanding are incalculably broad. There will be jolts and jars and confusion, without doubt, but these will be minimized by the eagerness of the visitors to learn, the eagerness of the hosts to show the best in their institutions and daily life.

The Young Squire

A Skillful Red Manipulation

The skillful diplomatic manipulators in the Kremlin achieved a spectacular success when they ordered the East German puppet government to put into effect immediately a set of measures liberalizing the heretofore strict Communist edicts.

Brown

Western Europe is fully convinced that the USSR no longer harbors any aggressive intentions and that a conference with Moscow will definitely end the cold war. America's skepticism over these calculated Soviet moves is not shared in Western Europe except by the Western German government headed by Chancellor Adenauer, who continues to consider the triumvirate in the Kremlin as wolves in sheep's clothing.

The German opposition parties, and especially the powerful socialistic party headed by Dr. Ollenauer, are willing, however, to take a chance. All of Germany is of one mind about the unity of the Reich. Adenauer had hopes that this might eventually be achieved by close co-operation with the Western nations and especially the United States.

Hopes Dashed

The refusal of the French National Assembly and of the other Western European parliaments to consider the ratification of the Paris peace contract and the EDC agreement has poured cold water on Germany's hopes that it will be accepted as a partner by the free nations of the West. Adenauer returned to Bonn from his visit to America last spring with the feeling that while the allies across the Rhine might take their time to accept Germany into the fold the United States would take steps to prove to the German people its genuine interest in the restoration of the Reich as an associate in the struggle against Communist aggression.

Adenauer had gathered from military and political men at the highest level that they firmly believed that the NATO could not survive unless Germany's manpower and technical know-how were added to the allied forces. But apparently our allies in Western Europe evince only an academic interest in that coalition.

The parties opposing Adenauer were at one time willing to go along with his policies of intimate co-operation with the West. But ever since France used high-handed methods in regard to the Saar question and also showed clearly its lack of interest in the EDC pact, the opposition to Adenauer's policies within Germany has grown considerably. He offered no solution to the unification of the Reich, a subject on which there is full agreement among all Germans from the extreme right to the extreme left. Most political parties have also lost faith in America's ability to do anything for them, except in the field of economic and financial assistance. And this Germany needs less than any other country in Europe.

Lip Service Only

The rank and file of Germans say that America has shown herself too anxious not to hurt the feelings of the French and too concerned over Britain's interests to pay more than lip-service to aims for the political re-birth of the Reich.

On the other hand, Moscow has been watching developments in the Western German republic with more understanding than we have shown. On March 8, 1952, the Soviet government offered the unity of Germany and what appeared to be an unrestricted rearmament program on condition that it declare itself strictly neutral in the East-West conflict.

Adenauer refused the Soviet offer because he could detect some strings which the Muscovites thought they had carefully concealed. The socialists went along reluctantly with the chancellor because at that time the Communists' economic and political controls and the persecution of the Protestant churches in Eastern Germany were applied as stringently as in the rest of the USSR and her satellites.

Wednesday night Moscow struck indirectly at Adenauer when it ordered the liberalization of the most irksome Communist edicts. The Kremlin tells the Germans in effect that it is from the USSR that they must expect the realization of Germany's unity.

The position of Adenauer who must face the electorate early next August has now become critical. The reforms ordered by the USSR in Eastern Germany may spell his political doom even more than the elections in Italy rendered Premier De Gasperi a mere figurehend. Thus the only two pro-American political leaders in Western Europe may soon be thrown into political discard.

Apparently American cash no longer has the same lure as in the past. American diplomats do not conceal their concern over the rapid growth of Russia's prestige at the expense of that of America. Prestige by itself is inconsequential. In these days, however, it strongly affects our security.

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL

— A Chat with the EDITOR —

It is axiomatic that in America's period of growing up to the responsibilities of world leadership the American people have tended to vacillate between the zest of high idealism and the cynicism of disillusion. There have been the same peaks and valleys of public opinion regarding America's part in the United Nations.

* * *

To American thinking about the U.N., President Eisenhower last week in Minneapolis contributed a much-needed note of realism, somewhere between the ardently hopeful atmosphere in which it was founded and the equally unreal "go it alone" cries of dismay heard today.

* * *

He also contributed a new and useful metaphor—of the United Nations as a "mirror" of today's world.

* * *

The President acknowledged that the "unhappy murmuring" about the U.N. is easy to understand. "None of us is above irritation and frustration over the seemingly vain and tedious processes of political discourse in times of great crisis."

A 'Mirror' Of the World

But he pointed out that no one has a right to expect the United Nations, or the world, to be "made in a single image of one nation's will or idea." This is an expectation that often dominates American thinking.

Actually, he went on, since its founding the United Nations has "seemed to be two distinct things," to the two worlds divided by the Iron Curtain. To the Communists it has been a propaganda sounding board, a convenient way of fostering disunity and confusion among their adversaries. To the free world "it has seemed that it should be a constructive forum for free discussion of the world's problems, an effective agency for helping to solve those problems peacefully."

* * *

But, said the President,

"The truth is that even if the United Nations were to conform to the concept held by the free nations, it would still be bound to show infinite variety of opinion, sharp clash of debate, slow movement to decision. For all this is little more than a reflection of the state of the world itself.

"An image of perfect symmetry would be a distorted image—the false creation of some nation's or some bloc's power politics. And perhaps the greatest worth of the United Nations is precisely this: It holds up a mirror in which the world can see its true self. And what should we want to see in such a mirror but the whole truth—at such a time of total struggle?"

Such a concept is a far cry from one envisaging the United Nations as the enforcement agency and guarantor of world peace. But since it does recognize the fact that this is two worlds, not one, it may be a safer, and at the same time more hopeful base, on which to build a foreign policy.

* * *

The President uttered it in a week during which in the truce negotiations and in his dealings with Korea's President Rhee, he was drawing a sharp distinction between those objectives which are legitimately pursued by military force and those to be sought by peaceful means. In doing so, he was spelling out more clearly than it had been spelled out before, the legitimate role of the U.N.—since the Korean war had been fought, and the truce was being negotiated, in the U.N.'s name.

* * *

To repel armed aggression with military force was one thing, he had told Rhee, and to seek political objectives by the use of force was quite another. For the U.N. to attempt to compel unification of Korea by prolongation of the war, he had said, would be to commit the very offense of which the Communists had been guilty three years ago.

* * *

The big test of the President's concept of the U.N. as an agency that could be "helpful" in solving problems peacefully would come in the conferences on Korean unity that would follow a truce. If anybody last week thought anything would come of such conferences, they didn't say so publicly.

* * *

But it might not be safe to be too sure of that. President Eisenhower's speech of last April before the American Society of Newspaper Editors, in which he invited the Russians to make a progressive, global demonstration of their good faith, in return for some very definite and breathtaking American participation in peaceful world betterment, wasn't just a political speech. Even while the truce negotiations were going on in the Far East, Allied diplomats in Europe were putting the question of an Austrian treaty—one of Ike's April criteria of Russian good faith—up to the Kremlin. The Russians meanwhile were making readjustments both in Austria and in the eastern zone of Germany that could be interpreted either as window-trimming, or as first moves toward a whole new readjustment.

* * *

If they were the latter, then attainment of the U.N.'s "peaceful" objectives for Korea was not impossible either. A whole new era of greater U.N. prestige might be at hand, ushered in by America's new and realistic appraisal of U.N.'s limitations and of the limitations on what can be accomplished by force of arms.

How Old Are You?

By FREDERICK BROWN HARRIS
Chaplain, United States Senate

"Please give your age." That is sure to be one requirement on most questionnaires. It is the inevitable interrogation which meets one at gateways leading to employment, education, insurance, hospital admission and a dozen other avenues. It heads the procession in any array of vital statistics.

Harris

A new biographical emphasis has come into vogue the last few years when, in any magazine or press reference to one who for any reason is in the public eye, there is added following his name his age. Such notations ignore Emerson's remark: "We do not count a man's years until he has nothing else to count."

A mother from Erin's green isle said to her son, "Run across the street and ask how old Mrs. Casey is," of course, meaning a friendly inquiry about the health of her venerable neighbor. But the lad put the emphasis on the wrong word and, for his pains in seeming to raise a sensitive subject, returned with the indignant answer: "Mother, Mrs. Casey says to tell you it's none of your business how old she is!"

But it is the business of every life we touch how old we are, not in years but in spirit and attitude. How old we are in our outlook and outreach is everybody's business who comes within the circle of our influence.

The mere calendar question, "How old are you?" may invoke an accurate answer which is, nevertheless, of no more vital significance than what is rung up on a cash register has to do with what is finally done with the money. The centuries have been told that Methusaleh managed to wear out 969 yearly calendars, as his days rolled by. But the record of anything worthwhile which he did is blank.

The One from whose birth this day is reckoned ended His life at 33. When Man's Best Man hung at the place where hate's worst terminated His career in early manhood, "not one golden hair was gray on His crucifixion day."

After all, what a man has done or what he is likely to do, what it is still in him to do, is not glimpsed in the age numerals printed after his name. Any given birthday may be an epitaph or a prophecy. William E. Gladstone, who wanted to retire at 61, thinking he was through, in his late 80's, looking back over the last quarter of a century, said: "Had I even died at threescore-an-ten fully half my work would have remained undone."

* * *

At a meeting of a college board of trustees, I sat with one who at 96 was alert to every question raised. In discussion he was on his feet more often than some old men of 65 around him. He spoke with playful humor, yet with scorn, of a member of that group who had sent his resignation because he had reached the age of 70. "What is the matter with this youngster?" demanded this vigorous leader, less than five years short of a century. "I had been graduated from Yale before he was born."

What a fallacy it is, with the record of human achievement before us, to stress so much the passing time which adds years to life, and to neglect the infinitely more significant process which may add life to years! The most exciting and sensational news that can come to a human at any stage of the journey across the narrow isthmus of mortality is: "You don't have to grow old." That decision is not determined by calendars, but by character and caliber.

* * *

The secret of secrets is not to look young, but, rather, to be young. The question is: "Do you live by dinner time, or by inner time?" The one is tied to a mechanical daily routine; the other, to the clock of the eternal. The fountain of youth is within you.

* * *

Here is the real test of age: Do you live by your enthusiasms, or by your disillusionments? By your faith or by your fears, by your cynicism or by your beliefs; by your disgusts or your admirations; by life's betrayals or its fulfillments?

One is never old who is still able to feel the zest and wonder of adventurous living, the glad surprise of the unexpected; who is always growing and never fully grown; who, with buoyant courage, never concedes defeat or surrenders to despair, never allows periods to bowl over exclamation points; who keeps the heart open for new and fragrant friendships and the mind open for some new truth to dawn in glory as a fuller light is hailed.

Personal Views Of the News

When it comes to the legislative branch of government, the giants are gone, so we are told; the places they formerly occupied, occupied by pygmies.

* * *

More and more, people are beginning to inquire if certain of the mechanics of democratic government are adequate to meet the problems of our times. Recently in Omaha a distinguished Canadian barrister delivered a blast against the jury system, suggesting it was time to abandon it, and that it no longer served justice. That does violence to original conceptions of American justice. The jury system was its backbone. In every case, the accused was innocent until the question of his guilt was established to the satisfaction of a jury of his peers. Nothing could be more thoroughly American than this doctrine.

* * *

Fortunately the judicial branch of government is strongly established with the American people and although there have been changes in court procedure and in the law itself, there has been no disposition to be critical of judicial bodies. The legislative branch, particularly in Washington, has not gotten off so easily. Congress, it is said, is too big, awkward and ineffective. Congress cannot get around its work even when it remains in session virtually the year around. It has lost stature intellectually; in the main, its membership is made up of men of mediocre mentality; and its activities suffer even more because of the absence of an inspired leadership. The giants no longer exist. Visiting with one of the members of Congress not too long ago, he offered this analysis of its greatest weakness.

* * *

"We are all the same size," he said, "or at least we think we are the same height. In the Senate where I serve, there are 96 of us and in that group not one single man to whom all the rest of us look up."

* * *

That could to some extent explain the strange case of Bob Taft, who at the start of this present congressional session became the recognized floor leader for his party. People spoke of him in the highest terms. He had no rival on the floor of the Senate, it was said, with the solid qualities of statesmanship Taft possesses. It may be that Taft looms above the others simply because the others are so diminutive in stature. No doubt part of the troubles of Congress can be charged up to a lack of leaders held in high esteem by the members of both major parties. With a few giants, Congress could get its work done quickly. It could be expected, possibly, to set a higher standard in the drafting and the final passage of legislation.

* * *

The first of the big money bills to pass Congress and go to the White House for approval was given the finishing touches midweek. Others remain unacted upon. And this fiscal year draws to a close on June 30 next, only a matter of a little more than two weeks hence. The appropriations for the Armed Services, or for national defense, the biggest money bill with which Congress will deal, have not yet emerged from committee. That means this 83rd Congress is slightly behind time schedule. Admittedly the wheels can move rapidly once congressional committees complete their hearings and place bills out on the floor of Congress. But with this present Congress so far behind in its routine labors (routine not in a perfunctory sense), it was conceded that questions such as Hawaiian statehood, a new tax law, and a number of others simply had no chance of getting consideration until 1954.

* * *

Is it that the problems with which legislators deal today are much more complicated than those which fell to their predecessors? We are a mature nation. And with maturity has come a notable interlinking of interests. A pebble that falls into the water on the east coast sends its ripples to lap the sands of the Pacific coast. A transportation rate fixed for the Ohio Valley may have a favorable or punishing effect upon freight schedules in the southwest. Nothing is simple anymore, nothing easy, and very little clearcut.

* * *

The giants may be gone but the problems are with us, and they continue to mount in complexity.

* * *

On the federal level, some of us say that the Congress has lost the capacity to serve the American people effectively. There is no proposal to abandon or alter it. If anyone should suggest a radical reorganization of legislative practices, they would bump into a storm of protest. We are not happy with legislative bodies in the states or with legislative practices on the state level. We frequently say that they are unable to get the job done.

* * *

Before we lose faith in our institutions, we will be smart to look around. If we do, we will discover that alongside developments in other countries, the American system is still infinitely to be preferred.

Super Market Hostess

Buffalo News: The duties of a hostess in a super market have been thrashed out in Cleveland at a convention of the Super Market Institute. It would indeed take some of the drudgery out of trundling one of those little wire wagons to have a pretty girl in a trim uniform keep us informed of our cruising speed in the vegetable section and point out historic landmarks in jams and jellies; perhaps serve a cup of coffee to restore flagging strength when the hard trip gets as far as canned tuna. But don't count on it, men. When the day arrives that a pretty hostess is installed in your neighborhood emporium, you probably won't get to do the marketing.

Atoms Rout Strawberries

Indianapolis Star: Down around Paducah (Ky.) farmers have quit their berry patches and orchards to take jobs in the local atomic energy plant. From 5,000 acres in previous years to only 250 acres this year is the area's sad story in the growing of strawberries. Much secrecy surrounds what's cooking in the Paducah AEC plant, but you can bet your atomic pile that it's not a shortcake.

Champion Whittler

Marshalltown, Ia., Times: Some enemies criticize the Eisenhower administration for "whittling" at the budget instead of chopping it down to size with a couple of blows with an ax. Patience, please. A whittler often accumulates a right impressive pile of shavings and chips.

An editorial in the Bertrand Herald headed, "Dumb Girls Best Wives?" has left me pondering. The editor said in the very first paragraph "First we would like to say that we are perfectly satisfied with the helpmate that we have." Then he goes on to quote Dr. Mary Macaulay, a British marriage counsellor, "The girl whose only ambition is to be a wife and mother, and who does what comes naturally, and occasionally blows off some steam, has an excellent outlook for success in marriage. But the girl with a graduate school degree—the intellectual type—has a poor outlook!" Then the editor adds "There may be more to the dumb blonde than meets the eye." Now in that first statement was the editor trying to prove the learned doctor in error or—oh well its just one of those little things that an outsider reading the weekly press must ponder over.

Picnic Weather

It takes more than a rain to spoil a picnic out Sand Hills way, according to Reva Evans of the Gordon Journal. The rain just makes Sand Hills roads (?) better. A weather-tight hay mow served for the picnic ground and "The atmosphere for which many sophisticated night spots strive in the 'Stable Clubs' and 'Paddock Clubs' was at hand. Harness on pegs, a mound of hay at one end, the occasional bawl of cattle corraled in an adjacent yard, horses stomping in stalls below as they munched hay . . . The barbecued beef was succulent and every square inch of the serving tables crowded with such food as would make the chefs of the above-mentioned clubs turn green in frustrated envy. The rain pelted down on the vaulted roof, an orchestral accompaniment to the meal; the youngsters romped in the hay and the good conversation of people with many interests in common went 'round and 'round. As the meeting progressed, the skies cleared and long rays of sunlight, full of dancing motes, slanted through the high windows and across the mow."

Lowly Pedestrian

"After dodging bumpers in Sidney, I long for the old days when you ran only a minor risk of getting run over by a wild horse. I'm not opposed to progress and I think the automobile is here to stay, but I also think the pedestrian is entitled to stick around a little while.

"It's little wonder that old folks, such as myself, long for a return to the horse and buggy days. . . . I don't know when the big change came about, but all at once, everyone was in a hurry. Men who were walking down the street for a package of cigarettes moved like someone was chasing them. Folks who used to take a leisurely walk around the block suddenly put themselves into double time. . . . Grandmothers became chain smokers; grandfathers went in for sport shirts and slacks. Old folks and young folks were hard to tell apart. Even the babies started crawling faster. A tranquil world became a speedway and everyone began a deliberate campaign of speeding up the trip to the grave.

"The mania was sure to infect the average car driver. Young people learning to drive were taught: 1. Step on the gas; 2. Honk the horn at offending pedestrians; 3. Swear at the old ladies who get in the way; 4. Pay no attention to the yellow line, especially if it's in your lane."

All this calls to mind one of my narrow escapes as a pedestrian. I jumped to safety but had time to see a car speed by with a religious slogan painted on the side, "You must be born again."

Tornadic Winds

I have heard many persons wonder if the atomic blasts might not be causing the tornadnes around the country, but Terry of the Crete News comes up with much more logical reasoning: "The tornadic winds have been so bad lately one would almost believe a congressional investigating committee was moving cross-country in a north-easterly direction."

Sweet Smelling

"A few days ago a Tekamah newspaper tried mixing perfume with printer's ink to give the paper a "pretty smell" to help promote Tekamah Trade Days. Other papers are said to have tried a different angle—spraying the bundled papers with perfume after printing with somewhat better results. One paper coming to the Republican office that smells like it were fresh out of a lady's handbag is the Cedar County News."—Osmond Republican.

Tsh! Tsh!

"It is almost unbearably hot and humid. The children are restless and at times, insufferably exasperating. So, if you should let fly and call Junior an infernal little brat, it isn't as bad a name as the child psychologists use. A couple of eminent professors of educational psychology, whose textbooks are used at Nebraska University, call Junior an 'organism.' And in our way of thinking, that sounds lower than a louse."—Falls City Journal.

Students Honored

Sunday, June 14 Today for many of America s millions of Methodists will be Student Sunday, a day on which local churches will honor their college students who are just coming home for the summer vacation

The student members of the congregation are invited to attend morning service as a group, sometimes wearing academic caps and gowns Sermons, addressed principally to the honored guests deal with some aspect of the relationship between education and religion

Special offerings today go to the Methodist Student Load Fund, a nationally administered fund to provide financial help for deserving students

Cruel Humor

Monday, June 15 St Vitus whose day this is, was martyred when he was only seven years old but he had already performed at least one miracle of healing It was natural, therefore that his help should be invoked by sick children, especially those with epilepsy and chorea, which were the worst of all children's diseases That is how the jerky, uncontrolled motions that go with these illnesses came to be called 'St. Vitus Dance"

But the cruel thing was that our ancestors were highly amused by the agonized twitchings of the stricken children They heartlessly made St Vitus the patron saint of comedians We have come a long way since there was a connection between comedy and convulsions

Dogs Named for a Saint

Monday, June 15. St Bernard of Menthon (10th Century) is best known because of the big dogs that bear his name Everyone knows about the immense kind-faced animals that go out with little kegs of rum fastened to their collars and rescue travellers lost in the Alpine snows

The headquarters from which these dogs operate are two mountain hospices that were founded by Bernard at two particularly hazardous passes, which have come to be called Great St Bernard Pass and Little St Bernard Pass Both passes more than 7,000 feet above sea level are choked with snow the year 'round

The hospices were really a sort of afterthought or by-product of the saint s original project He was disturbed about the ignorance and paganism of the people who lived in the rough mountain villages, and he gave up wealth, position and the prospect of marriage to devote his life to the instruction and conversion of these people

Soon familiarity with the country showed him that these two passes were death traps for hundreds of travellers, and he resolved to do something about it He built the two hospices, about the year 962, and turned them over to the Augustinian monks

Today as then about 40 monks from these two houses of mercy go out with their big trained dogs to look for wayfarers lost in the heavy mountain storms If they find a traveller alive they bring him in and give him food and shelter until the storm is over and he is ready to continue his journey The dead are given decent burial

What the Legislature Did--Digest of Bills Passed in 1953 Session

The list, compiled by the Associated Press, is indexed in 41 classifications for quick reference. Interested readers might wish to clip this page.

Bills with the symbol (E) at the end of their description have the emergency clause attached and became effective immediately after the governor signed them. All others become effective three months after the Legislature adjourns, or Sept. 14 this year.

The Essence of Conservatism And the Ideas It Has Sustained

The Conservative Mind: From Burke to Santayana. By Russell Kirk. Henry Regnery Co. (Chicago), $6.50.

Thoughtful Americans concerned with the rapidity with which the totalitarian theories and revolutions are spreading over a large part of the world should read Russell Kirk's landmark in contemporary thinking. It defines the essence of British and American conservatism, common to England and the United States from the days of Edmund Burke and John Adams to the present generation, and the system of ideas which has been sustained since the French Revolution by men of conservative instincts.

* * *

KIRK BEGINS by defining the six elementary theories which motivated the ideas of the score of men to whose opinions the book is devoted:

Recognition that change and reform are not identical, and that innovation is a devouring conflagration more often than it is a torch of progress.

* * *

MOST AMERICANS would agree with these theories developed nearly two centuries ago by writers and philosophers whose work Prof. Kirk dissects. In the time of Burke and Thomas Jefferson they were concerned principally with the rights of man and his freedom to work, think and live as he pleased within the limits of the safety of the community.

Our Constitution and the Bill of Rights were conceived by men who agreed with these principles, though they were known as dangerous radicals abroad since they intended to destroy tyranny by their message to the world that all men are free and equal and endowed with an inalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

* * *

OUR SECOND PRESIDENT, John Adams, whose primary concern was private and public virtue, realized that "freedom is a delicate plant" and outlined a practical system of liberty, under the law. Our government as it developed became one of checks and balances. That our Republic has survived is due to the progressive and yet conservative thinking of some of the men about whom Kirk writes.

About the first half of the 19th century the philosophical, economic and political disputes became more involved. The growing industrialism, the accumulation of wealth in America, the millions of immigrants who fled from Europe presented new problems. New England during those years produced some of the greatest and most constructively thoughtful men in our history.

Kirk believes the United States has high virtues but deplores "the great delusion of this epoch," which we have been exporting freely, the doctrine of the immediate gratification of the senses. Like John Adams, he believes in liberty under law.

Man and the Apes

You Shall Know Them, by Vercors. Little, Brown. $3.50.

What is man? Has he ever been clearly and fully defined? Apparently not, judging by this satirical novel. Even the lucid French, with their passion for defining anything and everything, have failed to do so, thus giving Vercors—a lucid Frenchman if ever there were one—a chance to write this unusual and very Gallic novel.

Vercors, the onetime poet of the French Resistance, is not a humorist as we understand that breed of cat. Instead, he concocts an elaborate and fanciful tale, the climax of which brings him to the point he wants to make: what exactly is man?

He answers thus. First, he arranges for a British expedition to go to the wilds of New Guinea, where it discovers a strange kind of manlike ape (or apelike man) dubbed paranthropus (or tropi, for short). These friendly creatures seem to be living missing links, in the sense that they look like higher apes but act like lower humans.

By a deftly Continental touch, the nature of which the reader will have to discover for himself, a number of the female tropis are used for a cross-breeding experiment by artificial insemination, the father-donor being the hero of the story, Douglas Templemore. The offspring are born and prove very troubling to Templemore, who throttles one of the infants and is duly brought to trial for murder.

Now Vercors reaches his point. If the infant was human, the charge must be murder. If not, the charge cannot stand. (Can you murder an ape?) So on a jury of Britons devolves the task of defining what man is and measuring the tropis against it. There is some wonderfully French wordspinning and argumentation before Vercors resolves his theorem.

European satire is a tricky flower to transplant to American soil, but the experiment stands up fairly well in this instance. Some readers will probably feel that the author sometimes works too hard to make his point, and that his book is too obviously a cerebral creation. Even its British setting and cast cannot disguise its essentially French flover. But it makes an interesting change-of-pace fiction item, especially for the Book-of-the-Month Club, which selected it.

History and South Cannot Be Hurried, Crusader Finds

Where Main Street Meets the River, by Hodding Carter. Rinehart. $4.

They say the South is changing, and there's no doubt it is. But history can't be hurried, and no more can the South.

This is one of the lessons Hodding Carter has learned in his career as a southern newspaperman. Carter was one of the bright young boys who came to man's estate during the depression and the New Deal. His was one of the voices, speaking as a liberal Southerner, which startled the North during the Roosevelt era. He is still a Southern spokesman, although he now has more company than he did 20 years ago.

In this book of personal experience Carter makes it very clear how tough the going was for a crusading liberal in those early days. When he started out, with a broken-down press he'd bought for $75, to establish the small Hammond (La.) Courier, "Kingfish" Huey Long was riding high. A cat may look at a king, and before long the Courier was tossing pellets at the Kingfish. Later Theodore Bilbo and John Rankin became targets for the same artillery, now grown to larger caliber.

Subsequently Carter went to New York and worked on Ralph Ingersoll's PM, a newspaper experiment that went wrong. PM folded and Carter went into uniform, later returning to the South. He is now editor of the influential Delta Democrat-Times of Greenville, Miss. Aided by his indomitable wife, he is still a voice from the South, listened to with respect throughout the country.

Primarily, this is a newspaperman's account of the ups and downs in his career, and as such it will delight anyone interested in the newspaper craft. But it has a message, too, and one that ought to attract another and larger audience as well. "We who enter the lists as protectors of the fair name of Dixie, astride the good steed Southern Change, hurl defiance: The South is no longer the heartland of ignorance . . ."

Is Cattle Business 'Hell on Women'?

NORMAN, Okla. — "The cow business," according to tradition, "is a damn fine business for men and mules, but it's hell on horses and women." But have you ever tried to get a lady who is in, or connected with, the cattle business to 'fess up and admit the truth of this assertion? The odds are overwhelmingly against the possibility of ever finding a member of the fairer sex who would agree.

At least, this is the conclusion of one inquisitive person who has on record hundreds of denials from ladies well-qualified to answer. "Maybe it was, 'way back yonder, but it never was in my lifetime," reported these ladies, including some grandmothers, to Alice Marriott who traveled from Wyoming to Florida talking to the women—and men—in the cattle business. Miss Marriott is the author of "Hell on Horses and Women," just published by the University of Oklahoma Press.

In all probability, says Miss Marriott, some chivalrous-minded cowman originated the saying. But the women—all of them—disagree, and as for chivalry, that's something the women in the cattle business never could understand.

Miss Marriott visited with many residents of the cattle country in the United States while preparing to write this book, and what she learned is sketched in "Hell on Horses and Women."

Parlous Voice: Investigating Investigators

Truth Is Our Weapon, by Edward W. Barrett. Funk & Wagnalls. $4.

"The Voice of America" could, theoretically, be all that its name implies, a mighty weapon in the contest for men's minds. But it isn't and never has been at any time in its existence. Today it has become a political football, kicked around in Congress until most of its effectiveness has disappeared. This report on its parlous state comes from a former assistant secretary of state who directed our "campaign of truth" from 1950 to '52.

* * *

BARRETT MAKES a number of self-evident points—the value of truth in a propaganda war, the success of the totalitarian "big lie" technique and so forth. He goes on to suggest what we should do to win this war of ideas, and cites 30 points he presumably learned during his direction of the campaign. The question arises: why, if Barrett learned from his experience, is the "Voice" still stuttering so painfully?

* * *

ONE OBVIOUS ANSWER is the harassment it has received from Congress, notably the McCarthy committee. Barrett is not afraid to cross swords with the senator, and devotes a whole chapter to investigating the investigators. No reasonable man can quarrel with his conclusion that "America can never conduct an effective operation in international persuasion if the whole plant is to be pulled up by the roots and publicly dissected every few months by men who have not conscientiously studied the intricacies of the work."

Whether the "Voice" can ever be made to match the quiet efficiency of the BBC's propaganda broadcasts is highly doubtful. Perhaps it has been too badly battered to be rebuilt, in which case the solution lies in an entirely fresh approach, free from political wire-pulling. After all, the real Voice of America is now the American nation itself.

Mystery Man Still Mystery

Malenkov, Stalin's Successor, by Martin Ebon McGraw-Hill. $3.75.

Stalin died on March 5, so that Malenkov has been head man in Russia for only three months. To produce a serious and sizable book on Malenkov in so short a period sounds like a writing and publishing hustle of the first order. The fact is, however, that Mr. Ebon had been at work on a Malenkov biography for some time. Also the reader soon discovers that this book isn't quite as exhaustive a takeout on Stalin's successor as it looks. About half the book is given over to the actual biography. The rest consists mainly of his principal speeches.

The truth is that very little is known in the West about the pudgy, cold-eyed Communist who now stands at the Kremlin helm. Ebon has marshaled just about every known fact about him, but it doesn't add up to a great deal. The broad outlines of his career are followed, but there are large gaps that remain unfilled, and probably will remain so for years to come. Nor is it possible to do more than guess at the mind and motivations of this strange-looking man.

In one record, Arturo Toscanini bids to re-establish Maria Luigi Cherumini and re-popularize an early work of Beethoven which that composer, as he grew older, learned to dislike more and more.

The Cherubini recorded by the maestro with the NBS Symphony is one of his many symphonies; the Beethoven the septet in E-flat which has six movements and carries over from the Mozart divertimenti and serenades.

Performance-wise, of course, there is the instantly recognizable Toscanini intensity of tempi and generosity in coloration. But Cherubini remains antiquated nevertheless and whether Toscanini makes Beethoven's appraisals sound erroneous will be answered differently by different ears (RCA Victor; 12-inch LP).

* * *

TWO EXCELLENT recordings of Schubert symphonies are new—one of the fourth, C minor, upon whose score Schubert wrote "Tragic," played by the Concertgebouw of Amsterdam under Eduard van Beinum (London! 12-inch LP); and one of the Schubert symphonic masterpiece, the "great" C major, played by the Vienna Philharmonic under Herbert von Karajan (Columbia; 12-inch LP).

The C major is great enough to merit considerable brooding over the manner and result of performance, which is said only to note that there are a number of very rewarding performances on records, including this one. But this can't be said of Mendelssohn's A minor symphony, called the "Scotch."

Two new ones have little competition on LPs. One is by the London Symphony under George Solti (London; 12-inch LP); the other by the Pittsburgh Symphony under William Steinberg (Capitol; 12-inch LP). The reviewer's ears convinced him that Steinberg is a more staunch believer in Mendelssohn's musical aesthetics than Solti.

Art Mooney and his orchestra serve up eight mellow tunes including "Baby Face," "Toot, Toot, Tootsie," "Heartbreaker," and "I'm Looking Over a Four-Leaf Clover," with some mighty fine strumming all the way on a 10-inch LP.

* * *

ANOTHER STRING instrument, the harp, usually thought of in terms of classical music, gets a hep treatment from Robert Maxwell in a sizzling Mercury single, his version of "Hindustan."

The most amusing record in the latest crop is Mel Blanc's crazy interpretation of "Somebody Stole My Gal," a song which had been given a new once-over by the lachrymose Johnny Ray. Mel's version, which sounds like Porky Pig, won't make you cry. On the flipside of this Capitol disk, Blanc changes his voice for "I Love Me."

* * *

THE MODERNAIRES have joined the host of musicians who have recorded the current hit "Say You're Mine Again." But the flipside of this Coral wafer, "He Who Has Love," is a better effort. It sounds like the groovy hit of a few years ago, "Rag-Mop," but that was a good song.

The Mills Brothers, for more than two decades a steady bellringer, keep up their good work with a Decca coupling of "I'm With You" and "Say Si, Si."

New Vaccine Effective Against Flu

Medical Roundup

By Dr. Walter C. Alvarez

Emeritus Consultant, Mayo Clinic
And Emeritus Professor, Mayo Foundation

In the Journal of the American Medical Association recently Dr. Jonas E. Salk reported that he has made an effective vaccine against influenza, one which will protect people for two years or so. The trick was to put the vaccine in an emulsion of oil and water. Now the problem is to make the vaccine effective against the several strains of the influenza virus. In different epidemics of influenza the strain or variety of the virus is likely to be different, and a vaccine effective against one strain is not likely to be effective against the others. Dr. Salk thinks that now it will be possible to make a vaccine that will protect against all the strains.

Help for Medical Students

According to some investigating commissions, one of the main problems in medicine today is the tendency of young doctors, as they go out from college to find a practice, to avoid the poorer country districts, where they cannot hope ever to make much money, but where they are most needed. They tend to settle in the largest cities where there may already be more doctors than are needed. There, without enough to do, they may be tempted to make work, and thus to do too much to the occasional patient who comes in.

Another great problem in medicine is how to educate the fine, brilliant and studious boy who would like to be a doctor and who would make a good one, but who hasn't in sight, or cannot ever get, the $15,000 or more that would be needed for his education. A while ago, when in a small city, I was saddened to hear that two of the most brilliant students ever graduated at the local high school had not been able to go on into medicine, as they had wanted to do. They had gone right to work in a store to help support a widowed mother and little brothers and sisters.

I hear now that the State of Georgia has decided to try the plan of lending money to able and promising medical students, with the proviso that, later, if they will practice in the counties of the state in which a doctor is much needed, for each year of such work, $1,000 of their debt will be remitted.

This looks like a good idea, but I suspect that still more provisions will have to be made before fine young doctors can be induced to settle in very poor counties. Small hospitals or clinics may have to be built so that the doctors can do good and soul-satisfying work. In some states this is now being done, and with good results.

I remember one day when a plumber was lecturing me a bit on the iniquity of doctors who would not settle in poor counties of poor states. I asked him if he would consider settling in such a place and opening a shop if, on looking around, he found that only an occasional farm house had an inside toilet or running hot water. "No," he said, "I suppose I wouldn't go there; there wouldn't be enough business, and many people couldn't pay me if I did work for them." Then he understood why a young doctor could not be blamed for not wanting to settle in a district where the soil is poor and the farmers cannot make much money.

A young doctor with a fine education, as he looks about for a place in which to settle cannot be criticized if he listens to his wife when she says, "Dear, while we are at it, why don't we build up our practice in a place where our children can have fine schools, and where, later, they will not be too far away from a fine state university? There we can stay and be happy and contended all our days."

Chronic Ulcerative Colitis

Chronic ulcerative colitis is a serious, usually chronic, and often recurrent disease, in which the inner lining of the large bowel becomes ulcerated, and, in the worst cases, largely destroyed. Unless the patient is quickly treated, and well treated, he can lose his life. The cause of the disease is not well known, but of late it has been observed that in some cases the diarrhea starts definitely after a severe psychic strain. In such cases I have strongly suspected that the trouble could have been nipped in the bud at the start, if only the psychic strain could have been cleared up quickly.

In this disease (fortunately rare) there is often a more or less severe watery or bloody diarrhea which at times will get the sufferer up at night. The person often runs a little fever, and he or she is likely to lose weight and strength.

Unfortunately, there is no drug that will surely bring a cure, but Dr. J. A. Bargen, of the Mayo Clinic, a world authority on this disease, has found a sulfa drug, called Azopyrin, or Azulfadine (Pharmacia, N.Y.) very helpful in many cases. Cortisone and ACTH and most of the antibiotics seem to be of only temporary value.

Bargen believes in bed-rest for the very sick patient, plus an adequate diet, which may keep the sufferer from losing strength and weight. Every effort should be made to free the person from anxiety. The disease reminds one, in a way, of tuberculosis, in which it is so essential to give rest, good hygiene, and hope, and to obtain an arrest before too much damage is done to the tissues. Once marked damage has been done, life must always be somewhat precarious, and there must always be a danger of flare-ups or a serious return of the disease.

Pianist-Dancer Team To Be Presented at NU

A young American pianist and his dancing sister, Teresita and Emilio Osta, will appear at the Student Union Ballroom next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the first of the summer artist series.

The program is sponsored by the Student Union and there is no admission charge.

Of Spanish descent, Emilio is an exponent of Spanish and Latin-American music for the piano. He is acclaimed for his interpretations of such composers as Granados, sometimes called "Chopin of Spain," Albeniz and Villa-Lobos, and for his own arrangements of Spanish and Mexican melodies and dances.

Teresita studied with the celebrated Cansinos and with other masters of Spanish classical dancing in Mexico City. She has given concert appearances in the Hollywood Bowl and the St. Louis Municipal Opera.

Their program reflects the traditions and customs of the Latin-American countries where they originated and give North Americans a true picture of the cultures to the South. They present dances and music from the provinces of Spain, the mountains of Chili, the Argentine pampas, and the ancient Inca and Aztec forms.

EMILIO OSTA—Pianist plays Spanish, Latin-American music.

'Shane' Is Western With a Difference

By JOE FITZ GERALD
Sunday Staff Writer

'Shane'

George Steven's "Shane," which starts at the Lincoln next, is a superb Western and a first-rate motion picture—a drama of homesteaders and gunfighters in which a grand show of outdoor spectacle and human excitement rests on a hard foundation rests rests on a hard foundation of good sense

Starring are Alan Ladd, Jean Arthur, Van Heflin and Brandon De Wilde

There are no popgun heroics no waste bullets in either Steven's direction or A B Guthrie Jr's script This film aims to demonstrate that killing is bad even when necessary, and the rarity of gunplay gives it a more deadly connotation when it takes place.

* * *

IT WILL be shown on a new type of enlarged screen called the "panoramic full-stage screen This new screen, containing over 750 square feet of surface, is 250 per cent larger than the present Lincoln screen

The screen has a 3 to 5 ratio, which means that for every three feet of height the screen is five feet wide Optical experts say this shape conforms more closely to the natural lines of vision of the eye Some people get illusions of depth No special viewing glasses are used with the "p f-s" screen

* * *

"SHANE" deals with the historic feud between fence-building homesteaders and open-range cattlemen The battle is fought on a small scale in a single valley with only a handful of people on each side but it is the same old quarrel between rawhide and homespun, between the early settlers who seized the range from Indians and the peace-loving farmers who followed them into the territory

With Van Heflin Jean Arthur and young Brandon De Wilde as the stubbornest of the homestead families, and with Alan Ladd as the stranger Shane who helps them against their persecutors the story builds up antagonism in fist fights and other aggressions until finally the guns appear—two of them on the hips of a hired gunfighter from Cheyenne

* * *

UNLIKE most Westerns, "Shane" depicts the man who uses a gun as a thing apart, an outcast with an unpleasant smell of death lingering about him Here the gun is not part of a costume, but a last, terrible resort When the first shot is heard, in a practice session held by Shane for the youngster's benefit, it is no mere firecracker effect, it is loud, surprising, shocking and conjuring up images of dread rather than images of bravado

The action is swift and barbed with realism as it passes from the homely details of farm labor to a bloody barroom fight to a final, stunning instant when the guns are drawn The reality of the story is contrasted most cleverly and revealingly with the character of the boy played by young De Wilde

The lad sees the dirty business as a series of heroics—he sees a Western in his family's struggle to survive, and his hero worship is expressed in the way he pronounces the name "Shane" giving it a curled sing-song edge as though it were a cheer This is a brilliant touch, this double image of romanticism and ugliness in the same events

'The Vanquished'

A top-notch cast and a thrill-a-minute story are combined in Paramount's Technicolor adventure drama "The Vanquished" coming soon to the Nebraska Starring John Payne Dan Sterling, Coleen Gray and Lyle Bettger with Willard Parker, the film is set against the teeming background of the old South during its most violent era

The yarn related in 'The Vanquished' is that of a Southern town's struggle to free itself from the oppressive tyranny of carpetbagger rule and of the heroic figure who makes this liberation possible

John Payne is cast in the role of the returned Confederate major, who upon seeing how the parasitic civil administration is devastating his city, decides to throw in with them so as to gather evidence to ultimately expose their nefarious activities

Payne's alliance with the government forces, however, are misunderstood by the townsmen, and he thus incurs their enmity Only Coleen Gray, his pre-war sweetheart, stands by his side in the face of adversity When Payne's foes discover that his true sympathies are still with the local citizenry, they scheme to have him framed as the murderer of a visiting general It is then that Payne becomes a hunted outlaw and his chances to oust the evil force fall to their lowest ebb

CO-FEATURE Another first run film

'Dream Wife'

Sparked by amusing dialogue, inventive characterizations and rib-tickling comedy antics "Dream Wife" brings Cary Grant, Deborah Kerr, Walter Pidgeon and Broadway's musical-comedy star Betta St John, to the Stuart next

Here is the situation of this new MGM laugh hit A young and successful American business man engaged to a career girl with the State Department, goes to the Middle East on business and is captivated by a lovely young princess who from birth has been taught the art of making a man happy Returning to this country he is made strikingly aware of the contrast between the seductive Princess Tarji, who anticipates his every wish, and the over-efficient Effie, who seems more zealous about her international duties than in the happiness and comforts of her groom-to-be

A quarrel ends their engagement and he promptly proposes to Tarji by cable, with the result that she arrives in New York with an imposing entourage, a language all her own and a host of Eastern taboos in regard to kissing or embracing before marriage

Oliviers Offer Home

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — It's reported from England that Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh have placed their country home up for sale The place was a big expense and it's said that one of the factors behind Miss Leigh's collapse was worry over finances

Meek by day, dashing by night—that's Gordon MacRae, here singing a tender duet with Kathryn Grayson. Music by Sigmund Romberg fills "The Desert Song" Varsity Tuesday. (Below).

'Desert Song'

The lyrical team of Kathryn Grayson and Gordon MacRae appear in a new Technicolor version of "The Desert Song," which will begin Tuesday at the Varsity

MacRae seen in a dual role plays El Khobar, the heroic Riff leader who in reality is the tutor of Margot portrayed by Kathryn Grayson Rugged Steve Cochran stars as the dashing Captain Fontaine of the French Foreign Legion

* * *

THE FABULOUS and long-favorite story, told to the accompaniment of the stirring Sigmund Romberg score, is a blend of desert adventure and romance

The film presents an account of tribal warfare as the bold Riffs led by El Khobar rise up against the hordes of the treacherous Sheik Youseff (Raymond Massey)

* * *

BY DAY El Khobar is the timid Paul Bonnard, tutor to Margot, the beautiful daughter of the commandant of the French Legion forces When the Sheik attempts to incite the Arabs to revolt against the unsuspecting French, Paul dressed in the robes of the fearless El Khobar, gathers his Riff riders to storm the Sheik's palace

They destroy his army, but it remains for El Khobar to rescue his beloved Margot from the vengeful Sheik

Without his disguise, Paul professes his love for the beautiful French girl only to find that she is in love with the adventurous El Khobar Not until Bonnard sings the romantic 'One Alone does Margot realize that the two men are one

'San Antone'

That explosive era in Texas when confused loyalties marked the breaking out of hostilities between the North and the South in a Civil War, has been brought to the screen with force and vivid action in Republic's new adventure drama, 'San Antone, a State attraction

A strong cast is headlined by Rod Cameron, Arleen Whelan, Forrest Tucker and Katy Jurado, the latter an already famous Mexican import who attracted critics with her performances in Republic's 'Bullfighter and the Lady' and recently was applauded for "High Noon '

'San Antone" is loaded with action—gun fights, knife fights and the rough-and-tumble variety which characterized the mode of combat in Texas during 1861 These clashes are not limited to the men, but develop into a feud between the misses Whelan and Jurado

* * *

THE STRONG central theme concerns the running battle between Cameron, a young Texas cattleman and Tucker, an arrogant Confederate lieutenant, which begins when Cameron rescues his Mexican friend, Rudolfo Acosta, from a lynching following a calculated bit of seduction by Miss Whelan, Tucker's fiancee

On a cattle drive, when a troop of Union soldiers attack, Tucker hides out while Cameron, although a non-combatant is sent to a Union prison for the duration Upon release Cameron meets Miss Jurado, sister of Acosta, with whom he is in love He hears that his father has been killed by Tucker's troops and that the lieutenant is being held captive in Mexico by Acosta for a ransom of five hundred head of cattle

* * *

MISS WHELAN, Tucker's fiancee, connives to join Cameron's cattle drive to Mexico with Cameron motivated by revenge against Tucker for killing his father and a desire to pay the ransom and free Tucker's men

Apache Indian attacks and open warfare between the two girls as well as bandit dangers beset the group which loses many head of cattle on the long, dry trek

A reunion between Cameron and Acosta, when the long journey ends in Mexico, is climaxed by a furious hand-to-hand knife fight between Cameron and Tucker with one sparing the other's life at the climactic moment

Flynn May Stay Abroad Long Time

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Errol Flynn's business associate, Barry Mahan, is here from Rome to try to work a bit of order out of the chaos of Flynn's financial affairs

It was not explained why Flynn did not make the trip himself, but it could be that he didn't dare risk it He might find himself in jail for contempt of court

The Irish star has been battling for years with the first of his former wives, Lili Damita, over alimony payments and she has a 100 thousand dollar judgment against him

However, in one way, the alimony judgment is the lesser of Flynn's financial headaches The government has an 800-thousand dollar income tax lien against him

In view of everything, there's little prospect that Hollywood—or Lili Damita—will see anything of Flynn soon He apparently plans to live abroad indefinitely Mahan said "We have a program of 11 pictures to be made at various places around the globe"

Old 'Keep Cool' Experts Here With Tips Again

With ye olde summer temperatures rising to the level where the housecat licks singed whiskers, a lot of citizens are asking what they can do about it.

Records prove that plain people have had little success in changing weather

Experts say, however, that you can actually be cooler and more comfortable — no matter what the thermometer says—if you observe a few rules

Wear light, loose-weave clothing, a special must for men because the girls already seem to know this secret

Swallow salt now and then, when the going is tough, to replace what is lost in perspiration

Work easier, no matter what your boss says, and remember his dynamo will be slowing down too

Don't get too much exposure in the sun for a tan to prove your ruggedness, because the results may be otherwise

Avoid those "tall cool ones," because they aren't

What seems lik the best advice of all is

Don't feel hot just because you see a high temperature reading

Women Laugh At Themselves On TV Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Women have more of a sense of humor about themselves than most men think, says George F. Foley

Foley, a former lawyer and the father of six children, produces television shows His latest is a daytime show which pokes gentle fun at the sort of thing that happens in a housewife's life every day.

"We have found that women have much more of a sense of humor about themselves than most men give them credit for," said Foley "The things they think are the funniest are the skits that come closest to their own lives"

* * *

ALTHOUGH he's only 34 and eager to conquer the field of daytime television, Foley wasn't foolish enough to launch this sort of program unadvised

He called in a panel of housewives They laughed Foley relaxed

"The panel is still with me," he said with satisfaction "They meet every 10 days or so to go over the skits our writers have dreamed up We don't want to make fun of any woman We're just trying to show the humor in everyday situations We want to show women they can have fun in their own homes"

FOLEY got the idea for the show, "Freedom Rings," after watching his children mimic grownup activity around the house

To add a little zest, he decided to make the scenes a challenge to women contestants from the audience

In one recent skit a woman contestant sat in on a scene depicting a housewife gossiping with her neighbors about the furniture being moved into the house next door After numerous confusing interruptions she had to list as many details of the new neighbors as she recalled from the conversations

Actress Gets $150,000 For Minor Film Role

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Joan Fontaine is being paid 150-thousand dollars for a minor role in Paramount's 'flight to tangier"

The actress says

"I don't think I'll have more than 20 lines in the picture I can't imagine why they'd charge my 150-thousand dollar salary against a film and give me such a small part"

Producer Nat Holt explained he figured Joan's name would give the film added boxoffice draw

Walter Winchell

Song for a Merry-Go-Round

Do you believe the world will end completely
When you and I have gone our separate ways?
Be sure, my dear, the birds will sing as sweetly
To orchestrate the sequence of the days,
And in the street the sound of children's laughter
Will testify that life continues on,
And there will still be dreams long, long after
The dreams we cherished tenderly are gone

So what if we are calling it the finish
Of everything we once had hoped and planned?
The brilliance of the sun will not diminish
And darkness will not fall upon the land

There still will be the starlit nights and flowers,
And lovers, too, with heartaches just like ours

Vignette (Friend In Need Dept) Before flying to the London Palladium Jane and Betty Kean were worried about the reported banana-famine there "Guess," fretted Betty (The Live One) "we will have to chuck our Carmen Miranda bit Without bananas to shove in people's mouths it won't be funny" "Forget it," comforted One Of Their Favorite Colyumists "You'll get bananas"

Upon arrival they were greeted by a man (in Top Hat, Frock Coat, Striped Pants and White Gloves) who handed the startled Dolls a Banana Tree "Compliments of the Brazilian people," said the bowing Brazilian Ambassador (Muito Obrigado!)

Color TV Not to Arrive Overnight—Nor Will It Be Cheap

Radio, Television in Review

By John Crosby

Now that we have all just become accustomed to Lucille Ball in monochrome we are going to have to get used to her in full color—which should not be too difficult (She'll have to do something about the hair It isn't red, it's orange. That's all right for Technicolor but it isn't all right for color TV, especially for my Great Aunt Agatha who harbors strong opinions that hair should not be orange, purple or green, that white, black, brown and yellow are enough of the spectrum for the average noggin Be that as it may .)

The color controversy has subsided into no controversy at all The RCA compatible color system—you can get it in monochrome on your present set—will be the system as the Federal Communications Commission should have known all along The Columbia Broadcasting System, which still holds the FCC's official approval for its sequential system, has long since lost interest in developing it (It is too busy making potsful of money in black and white broadcasting)

* * *

STILL, the battle cry of Rep Wolverton, chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, of "color TV by Christmas" is very misleading and is causing a lot of concern to set manufacturers who plan to sell black and white sets for a long time to come There won't be any color television by Christmas and Rep Wolverton doesn't actually mean there will be What he really means, I assume, is that the FCC may by then have approved the RCA system so that manufacturers can go ahead and make sets and transmitters Actually, there is grave doubt that the FCC will do that in so short a time

There is strong sentiment in Congress to get on with color television right now, that the public should not be deprived of it any longer This impatience, I feel strongly, is not shared by the public The principal public reaction is one of uncertainty, non-set-owners, who were on the verge of buying a black-and-white set, are hesitating a little longer under the mistaken notion that color television is right around the corner It isn't.

RCA feels that its system is ready for submission to the FCC right now July 1 is the date most often mentioned Not everyone agrees The National TV System Committee, a committee set up by the whole manufacturing industry, feels there is no sense in rushing things In one of the most sensible speeches on the subject, Dr W R G Baker, chairman of the committee, argues that nothing but the highest possible standards are good enough for the American people A few months delay are unimportant next to that goal I think he's right

* * *

HIS COMMITTEE will finish its work by September and the whole matter can be dropped into the lap of the FCC in November After that, there's still a long way to go Its original color decision favoring the CBS system took a year of hearings This time the hearings will not take that long but, in any case, FCC hearings are an intricate and cautious procedure which takes months Even RCA admits that color television is a year away from the actual moment that the FCC approves it.

At the earliest, Dr. Baker predicts there will be a few color receivers—very few—in the fall lines of set manufacturers in 1954. Chances are you'll be able to see some exhibitions of color at the dealer then, you'll be lucky indeed if you can buy a set. There should be some color programs ont he air almost everywhere where there is television by then.

The real growth of color, Baker predicts, will not come until 1955—and then black and white sets will outsell color receivers by four to one Now as to cost, color sets will be expensive There have been optimistic predictions that they would cost no more than 25 per cent more than present sets Most industry people say that figure is way too low, that color receivers will cost two to three times as much as black and white sets

Good black and white sets retail now between $250 and $450 Comparable color sets may come to between $750 and $900 Lots of people, Baker feels, once confronted with that price difference will settle for black and white—even if they could buy color sets today

CBS Spices Hot Weather Radio Fare

Facts, Not Gore, In Cop Thriller

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (AP)—In the history of both radio and television summer always has brought the dog days-replacements for the popular programs.

Since radio has come to be a rather poor relation in the realm of broadcasting subservient to the more glamorous TV despite the fact that it still makes a lot of money and reaches a tremendous number of people it would seem that no one would worry about radio programming once hot weather set in Broadcasting of baseball and records would be the easy way out

* * *

BUT THEY don't think that way over at the Columbia Broadcasting System Lester Gottlieb, a vice president who has a deceptively lazy air, is actually working overtime to bring new shows to the non-visual network at a time when all of the potential sponsors are supposed to be abroad or asleep until Labor Day

Gottlieb has come up with the idea for a radio show that will attempt to make the workings of a big-city police department both exciting enough to attract listeners and factual enough to earn a smiling nod from municipal officials

NEW SHOW STAR—Academy Award-winning actress Mercedes McCambridge, stars as the scandalous Sara Spence in the dramatic series Family Skeleton now heard Monday through Friday on KFAB-CBS Radio

* * *

THIS PROGRAM called '21st Precinct —a mythical precinct in New York by the way—will make its bow on the network July 7 in co-operation with the Patrolmen s Benevolent Association

This isn t a whodunit or blood and-thunder program of the usual crime school" Gottlieb explained Our writers are basing the scripts on police records the activities are confined to those that are legitimate for precinct cops and we have 19 000 persons checking up on us—the entire police force of New York City

The hero' if you must have one is the captain of this mythical precinct He knows practically everyone in it and what makes them tick That s his business But he s no detective no mastermind he isn't going to solve any murders or spectacular robberies That isn t in a precinct captain s province This has to be factual or we have nothing '

Protests Loud on Canadian Queen Issue

When a pretty woman is made to appear uncomely in a portrait, her fondest admirers protest vociferously When that lovely lady happens to be the newly crowned Queen Elizabeth, and her portrait

on a new Canadian commemorative stamp is distorted, then millions of her subjects rise up in arms

The new Canadian stamp stirred up a flood of protests, including newspaper editorials The complaint is that the new stamps are shoddy and make the radiant ruler look ugly

Canadian postal officials, bearing the brunt of the attack are at a loss to explain the situation They had chosen a photograph of the Queen, received her approval and put the stamps into the regular engraving channels

However, somewhere in the engraving process something went wrong The profile portrait depicted Queen Elizabeth as an elderly, sharp-nosed, haggard soul The shading around the cheeks gave the impression that she needed a shave!

The postal officials hope the supply will be exhausted quickly And they probably will, too, since this is a coronation issue which many collectors will be anxious to obtain

Some Expect Joe To Seek Top Spot

UNITED NATIONS N Y (CDN)—Sen Joseph McCarthy is being scouted like an athlete here by several foreign nations interested in presidential timber

Working on the theory that he will run for the White House, they have been trying to work out his foreign and domestic policy

Advisers close to McCarthy have supplied them with what purports to be a thumbnail treatment of his presidential program It includes three main points, they say

—Religious tolerance as exemplified in combatting anti-Semitic movements

—A strong appeal to the labor union vote

—An appeal to the Negro vote in both northern cities and the rural south

Reds Put Heavy Guns On Black Sea Coast

PARIS (CDN) — The Soviets have installed heavy guns on the shores of the Black Sea near the big Romanian port of Constanza. Russian troops have replaced Romanian units guarding Romania's Black Sea coast

BLEACH IF YOU LIKE—BUT WHETHER YOU DO OR DON'T, FAB WASHES CLOTHES WHITER THAN ANY OTHER PRODUCT WITH A BLEACH!

GIANT SIZE FAB WASHES CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP NO DULLING SOAP SCUM WONDERFUL FOR DISHES, TOO!

You'll actually find that Fab washes most of your clothes whiter without a bleach—whiter than any soap, whiter than any other washing product known with a bleach in the wash water.

IF YOU ADD A BLEACH TO FAB for your few stained, extra-soiled clothes, they'll come whiter, too—far whiter than with any other product and a bleach. For new Fab's exclusive whitening action is not affected by bleach.

WHAT'S MORE—FAB OUTCLEANS any soap! Washes out dirt—leaves no dulling soap scum. Fab quickly loosens dirt, keeps it floating in the wash water. No soaking needed.

CUT DISHWASHING TIME IN HALF!

Fab soaks dishes, glasses, pots, pans shiny clean! If a bit of food clings, the dishcloth whisks it off. Just a quick rinse and dishes drain sparkling clean. No hard scouring, no wiping—with Fab!

Homemade Frostee is so economical and oh-so-delicious. No wonder millions prefer it to ready-made ice cream. You'll want to serve Frostee often, so ask your grocer for both Frostee flavors—vanilla and chocolate.
